WELCOME

AN APOLOGY

LAST MONTH, we got all excited about a few days of sunshine, and perhaps prematurely announced the start of summer. Now, as we send this issue to the printers, there's an icy wind frosting our gonads and girls are walking around in depressingly large coats. In fact, it looks like the weather is making a mockery of this whole summer-themed issue – one in which we've devoted 18 pages to sexy girls in cool wet T-shirts.

But we say screw you weather men and women with your crappy, mostly accurate forecasts. Whatever shit gets thrown our way this summer, we'll all be out in our shorts and T-shirts, browning our sausages on the BBQ until they're deliciously incinerated on the surface, and dangerously raw on the inside. Won't we, readers? Readers? Okay, you wait indoors – we'll bring the baps and meat in when it's done.

Thanks again for all your texts, e-mails, messages and pictures of cats reading the mag. We love you all.

BEHIND-THE-SCENES BOLLOCKS

NO STRINGS ATTACHED

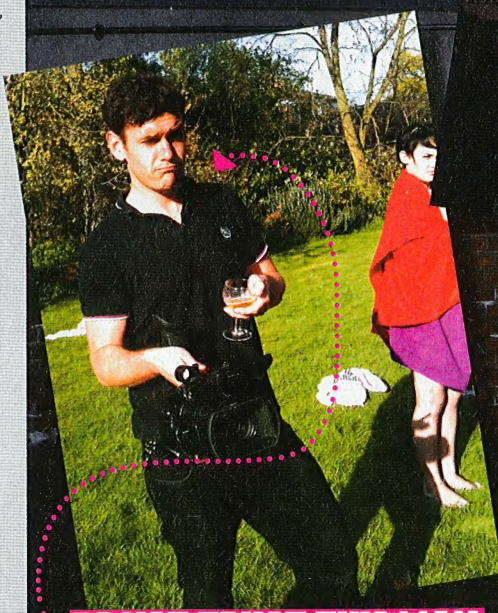

This Seren-based sexiness took place on the cover shoot. We were probably trying to do something dead clever with those bits of string, but we can't remember what it was.

JUST WHAT THE FUCK IS GOING ON HERE?

DO NOT TRUST THIS MAN

This Australian booze-hound is Stoney, who builds the gubbins behind frontarmy.co.uk and videos a lot of the shoots. Here he can be seen at his lowest, quaffing Strongbow from a wine glass while pretending to work. What a dreadful sod.

DROP DEAD SEXY

Picture man Adam met Oli Sykes at the Drop Dead party (see Out & About on p32), and got full-on bummed off him. The camera doesn't lie.

BMX-TRA

When we did the awesome BMX fashion shoot, we shot the riders out on the street as well as in the studio. Here's the amazing Dan Lacey riding a bike but, get this, right - he's doing it on a wall! What will they think of next?

ROCKET FUEL: WHAT GOT US THROUGH 143

Big frosty, chocolate-covered thumbs up to some dudes called Ben and Jerry, who sent over some delicious ice cream tubs. They also sent it in a bag of liquid nitrogen, which was PROPER FUCKING COOL. Not much free booze this month, though. So thirsty...

NUMBER ONE FAN
IN IRAQ?

Dear Sir, Ma'am or hot post room, myself and a very small team of drivers are currently deployed in Baghdad for six months. As you can imagine, it's not great here, and we certainly can't get your glorious mag in the shops. So I am writing to you to see if you would be a bunch of diamonds and send us some goodies (a signed picture of the stunning Alex Sim-Wise would be epic). I'm guessing you get endless letters like this, but I know it would boost morale massively here if you could send even the smallest goody. Love to you all at FRONT,
SAC STEVE DALY, AKA NO. 1 FAN IN IRAQ

Thanks a bloody bunch for getting in touch, Steve - we'll certainly send out some official Sim-Wise merchandise to you pronto. However, we have to point out that FRONT's biggest fan in Iraq is actually one Mustava KaKa who built a 20-foot statue to Sim out of steaming donkey excrement, as well as a considerably smaller one in his pants.

LETTERS WIN PRIZES

The month's finest ramblings will be rewarded with a colossal crate of Magners Pear Cider. How'd you like them apples? Well, pears. Whatever.

YOUR BURNING QUESTIONS ANSWERED

LOSTPROPHETS BETRAYED

Alright FRONT. Just scanning your fab mag and noticed in your Lostprophets interview you called their latest album 'The Departed', which I'm sure you know is actually called 'The Betrayed'.

Can I get Amy Lewis' number as a reward?

SAM, PORTSMOUTH

Alright, Sam, you caught us. We sort of bugging bollocks that up, and we'd like to extent our heartfelt apologies to Kelly and all the other members of the Sterophonics for our mistake.

TELLY RANT

WTF is wrong with you? Is your hat backwards? Facejacker "a wacky man's Trigger Happy TV?" YOU ARE MAD! It's one of the best shows out there. Sort this out or none of you will live to Christmas.

JOEY JD DAVIS, VIA TEXT

What can we say, Joey? Different strokes for different folks. One man's meat is another man's poison. You can't be older than you weigh. We're sticking to our guns, and if you want to come round and settle this in a tops-off cuddle-fight, we'll be ready.

FRONT DEFENDED

I just bought issue 142 and read the letter sent in by some dick called Steve who claimed this mag is shit. Two years ago, I bought my first copy of FRONT because it had an awesome picture of Seren on the front. There was also an article about a bloke who died by funnelling sherry into his ass which made me laugh a lot. If people like Steve don't see how brilliant the pages of FRONT are each month, they can choke on a shit sandwich with no bread.

FISH, NORTHERN IRELAND

Cheers, Fish. We asked around in the office to see if anyone remembered that sherry story, and nobody could. We think it was written by a bloke who left us under mysterious circumstances with several litres of Harvey's Bristol Cream...

FRONT: 18 RATED?

Me and my mate were having this argument. He reckons there is censorship on the sale of magazines like FRONT. He says you have to be 18 to buy them, but I told him I was buying similar magazines at 16. Please can you confirm?

ANONYMOUS, VIA TEXT

You're both wrong, nameless texter. There's no legal thing stopping anyone buying the mag, although shops and chains can restrict it however they like. If you're having problems, try cutting off your hair and supergluing it to your face for a DIY beard and 'tache. Good luck!

READER BUMS SLASH

I've always thought of Slash as one of the coolest rockers alive. Like, one of those rockers that make you think, 'How are you still alive?' After reading your interview with him, I've now come to think of him as even cooler, cos now I know he's English, which makes him better.

CRAIG, VIA E-MAIL

Cheers, Craig, although being English doesn't make everything better. Have you ever seen the film Johnny English, starring Rowan Atkinson? It's fucking dog-mess, man.

Q: DO I REALLY NEED TO WAIT HALF AN HOUR AFTER EATING TO GO SWIMMING?

A: PEOPLE'LL TELL YOU THIS

– don't jump in the pool while eating a horse's leg, as you'll drown quicker than a guest at a Michael Barrymore barbecue. Really, though? Really? No, it turns out. They've been warning against such things for ages, with that advice being drummed into most people's heads from childhood. However, as long ago as 1956, stomach cramps caused by eating before swimming were found to be involved in less than one per cent of drownings. The general advice now is thought to be to just not to be a divvy – just as you wouldn't go for a wrestle straight after a roast dinner, you're best off giving it a few before hoying yourself off the high-dive with beans streaked across your chops.

Q: WHY AM I SO HORNY WHEN HUNGOVER?

A: IT HAPPENS TO THE BEST OF US:

a night of getting absolutely fucked out of your head only for your cock to want some action the following morning. Without getting all scientific on your drunk ass, it's simply the higher the level of testosterone in the blood, the more horny you are. When you get arseholed, your body produces less testosterone, and the self-correcting nature of your endocrine system means it goes a bit mental when you're less pissed in order to catch up. That's why there'll often be a cheeky glint in a bleary, sweaty eye.

It's so good that when the National Portrait Gallery saw it, they went around pouring caustic soda on all the shit they've already got in there. Are you fucking happy now? What more do you want? Beer? Oh. Go on, then.

MIDSOMER STALKINGS

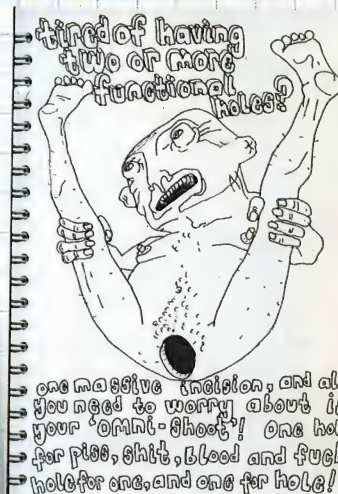

Me and my mate were minding our own business in Midsomer Norton one weekend, when we stumbled across a certain Brian May. I'm on the right.
MACEY, VIA E-MAIL

Yeah, last time Brian came in for tea and biscuits, he mentioned something about meeting a couple of spazzos in Midsomer Norton. Said he was physically sick.

WEEKLEY DOODLE

I'm 16 and I drew this of Jessica Weekley.
CHELSEY ELLIOT, VIA E-MAIL
We would have made you the winner and all, but you're only 16 and not legally allowed to drink the prize. Plus, it's a shit drawing. On-ly jo-king!

TAKE IT OFF

Thanks for printing my picture in Readers' Shit before. I am not anonymous, though: I am called Thing. I have attached a few more pics for your perusal.
ANONYMOUS, VIA E-MAIL
Cheers to the loveable weirdo who keeps on sending these horrific doodles. Let us know your name next time, so we can inform the police of it when the bodies start piling up.

IT BLOWS, MAN!

You had some illustrations with the headline 'Beat This', so I've given it a shot. Not quite sure if I've crossed that line from cute crush to embarrassing obsession yet.
KEV STEVENS, VIA E-MAIL
You've crossed a line alright, Kev. The line that separates the cool people from the dick-weeds. Jokes! You were in with the dicks from day one x

BEHOLD DAISY, THE BEST THING TO COME OUT OF STAINES SINCE THE BUS, MARKED 'NOT STAINES'

IF YOU BOUGHT our recent amazing trainers issue, you may remember the lovely Daisy, co-star of the cover shoot. We thought she was so fantastic we brought her back, sort of like how Hollywood keeps putting Shia LeBeouf in movies, except that unlike Shia LeBeouf, Daisy is great and has never ruined an Indiana Jones film.

The 19-year-old comes from Staines in Berkshire (not to be confused with stains in boxers) and is clearly the future. She's obviously going to be massive, like in the 'super-famous way' rather than the taller-than-a-building Godzilla one. Although he was pretty famous in his own right. Credit where credit's due.

TRUE OR FALSE

DELICIOUS AND INCREDIBLY SAUCY, YOUNG DAISY'S ALWAYS INTO SEXINESS, YEAH?

FALSE: Well, sort of true, but weirdly phrased – the first letters of all those words spell out D-A-I-S-Y-D-A-I-S-Y. That's it. Clever us, eh? Clever fucking twats, us.

TRUE OR FALSE

DAISY COMES FROM A NAVAL BACKGROUND AND HAS ANCHORS TATTOOED ON HER FOREARMS. SHE LEADS A TUMULTUOUS LIFE WITH HER PARTNER AND THEIR ADOPTED CHILD. SOMETIMES SHE EATS SPINACH AND HER ARMS GET MASSIVE AND SHE BECOMES THE STRONGEST WOMAN ON EARTH.
FALSE: That's sort of Popeye that we've described there. Sort of.

TRUE OR FALSE

DAISY'S PARTY TRICK INVOLVES PUTTING HER LEGS BEHIND HER HEAD.

TRUE: Our Uncle Freddy can do that as well. Mind you, his legs are made of porcelain. The real ones got eaten by a tiger in the Crimean War. Uncle Freddy is fucking old.

TRUE OR FALSE
DAISY'S HOBBIES INCLUDE TAP-UNBLOCKING, DOG-CRITICISING AND STAMP-STEAMING-OFFING.
FALSE: Daisy tells us that by day her main hobby is shopping, but by night she loves going out partying and having a drink. You know who else separates their daytime and nighttime activities? Batman.

FULL FRONTAL

TRUE OR FALSE

IN A RARE BREAK FROM AWESOMENESS, DAISY DESCRIBED DUMB-FACED
POP TURDS SCOUTING FOR GIRLS
AS "HOT".

TRUE: Scouting For Better Songs,
they should be called. Eh?

TRUE OR FALSE

DAISY IS LOOKING OUT OF THIS PAGE, AND CAN SEE YOU. YOU'VE GOT BITS OF BISCUIT ON YOUR FACE.
TRUE: Never change. We like you with biscuits.

DAISY DOESN'T HAVE A BORING DAY-JOB, AND IS A FULL-TIME MODEL.
TRUE: We've got loads of friends who make a living lying around in their underwear. Well, we know a lot of people on the dole.

TRUE OR FALSE

AS WELL AS DAISY, STAINES IS ALSO HOME TO FICTIONAL TRACKSUIT-WEARER ALI G, BREATHTAKINGLY RUBBISH FUNNYMAN BOBBY DAVRO, AND FORMER BIG BROTHER MAN-CHILD JON TICKLE.
FALSE: Also the Matthew Arnold Sports Centre and a Wetherspoon pub called The George that FRONT is barred from after an incident we're best off not telling you about.

FRANKIE LIVES KIDS

POP VS ROCK SHOWDOWN!

WHAT HAVE ALL the music videos ever made in the whole bloody world got in common? They'd all be loads better if fit-as-buggery Frankie from The Saturdays was in them.

Actually, that's not totally true, because, beside The Saturdays' vids, she's also in some S Club Juniors ones. Less said about that the better...

Luckily, Kids In Glass Houses are about to redress the balance and reap the benefits of having the delightfully pretty Ms Sandford in the video to their new single Undercover Lover, which she sings on too, making it about a million times better than any other video you'll see in the next million years.

What with Frankie being a massive FRONT fan and everything (she did a tweet about us saying so, alright), and Kids being super nice chaps, we got to hang out while they were filming it, and boy, was it a riot.

Actually, it was more tea and feet-putting-up, but then it must take all the concentration in the world to not fart all day because Frankie is there.

Q&A ALED (VOX)

JESUS, ALED, YOU JUST MADE A VID WITH FRANKIE OFF THE SATURDAYS. HOW THE FUCK DID THAT HAPPEN?

Basically, we had the song in the bag, and we thought it had a really strong '80s vibe, so we were keen to get a female duet going on. No one does it in that kind of way any more. We chased it up, and we found out Frankie was into our band, so we hooked up. We didn't think it'd happen, but she was really excited about it, so she came down for a few hours.

WHERE DID YOU SHOOT THE VID?

We rented out a converted church near Wembley in North London. It was cool.

NICE. SO WHAT HAPPENED ON SET, THEN? IT LOOKS A BIT FRILLY TO US...

I had to try my hand at acting, which wasn't the best. Frankie tormented us. There were no major fuck-ups, though – even if the director got really pissed off because my acting was so shit.

FRANKIE IS UPSETTINGLY FIT. WHAT WAS YOUR TACTIC FOR DISGUIISING YOUR BONER?

[Laughs] I didn't have to disguise it! It was a business thing –

I WAS WORKING... SO YOU TUCKED IT UP UNDER YOUR BELT?

[Laughs] There was nothing there, honestly...

FALLOUT: NEW VEGAS SET TO BLOW MINDS

NEW
SKILLZ

HANDS UP if you played and loved Fallout 3. If your hand isn't up, go out and buy Fallout 3 and play it and love it, then put your hand up. The mad-good people at Bethesda and Obsidian have followed it up with Fallout: New Vegas, a sort-of sequel, sort-of not (it's set in the same world, three years later and sharing no characters).

It's set to be more of the same retro-futuristic fun – in the Fallout universe, there was an apocalypse around the 1950s and everything's a charming mish-mash of old and new stylings, only with extra shit.

Check out the sweet trailer at fallout.bethsoft.com and look out for it in shops come autumn, when everywhere starts to look like a post-apocalyptic wasteland anyway.

BOOZY BABES CATCH BOTTLES AND SEE GIRLS NAKED

WEB
2. WHOA!

AH, BREWDOG, is there nothing you can't do? Not only do you give us deliciously tasty ales, but by the power of your genius, you can also make sexy girls' clothes fall off.

Yep, FRONT has joined forces with the ace Scottish brewery and made a brilliantly-addictive online game for you to get sacked from your job or fail your exams because of.

What it is, right, is that you catch bottles in a basket, and the likes of Seren, Jessica, Rosie and Vikki Blows get super-naked right before your eyes. Ace.

Oh, and BrewDog are offering FRONT readers 40 per cent off any online purchase. All you gotta do is go to brewdog.com and type in 'FRONT' at the checkout. Lovely.

MOTIVATE YOURSELF

with Andrew WK
The Party Hard guy

"Now that the seasons have changed for the warmer, it's proper form to get serious about girls. You want to take advantage of the heat and the relaxed schedule and fill your life with women! If you don't have a girlfriend, you now get to engage in the most fun activity ever: ASKING GIRLS OUT!"

"Girls like REAL MEN, and real men never give up or back down. Real men don't take no for an answer. If she kicks you, slaps you, and calls the police, just keep on gently asking if she'd like to go see a movie, grab coffee, or share a Scotch egg. Persistence is the key! Even when she finally loses her last shred of sanity and stabs you in the eye, don't let it distract you from making your move. Even if she doesn't and she kills you instead, at least you can die knowing that you never gave up on your dream! And never giving up is being a real man!"

QUICK TIP:

3 GREAT DATES

1 WALK AROUND: "It's always fun to schedule a particular activity on a date, like seeing a movie or going to dinner, but it can be even more fun to just walk around with a girl and see what adventures unfold naturally! It's especially great if it starts raining and you have no umbrella! Not only do you get to see her all wet, but you also have an excuse to go back to her house so she can get out of those soaked clothes!"

2 READING BOOKS: "Watching movies or TV with a girl is always fun, but reading a book together is even better! Get one book that you have to share - that way, she has to be close to you in order to see the pages. Try to choose a book that she'll sound sexy while reading, and don't be afraid to look at her mouth while she says the words."

3 SEX-DATE: "Rather than setting up a time to meet at a pub, set up a date with a girl specifically to have sex. If you're upfront, kind and direct, every now and then you'll find a girl who's turned on by that. Make a date a sex-date, and you'll have the best time ever!"

WARNING
Following the advice above may lead to radical changes in lifestyle and a dramatic increase in partying

MATT EDMONDSON

THE WEBBY-CUM-TELLY GOSSIP MAN WHO BOLLOCKED ALAN SUGAR AND NEARLY GOT PUNCHED IN THE FACE...

WATCH
FACE

WHO HE? Presenter bloke, 24, from Portsmouth.

WHAT HE DONE?

Interviewed people for ace entertainment site holymoly.com, and presented stuff for MTV and children's BBC.

WHAT OTHER PEOPLE SAY: Beardy comedian Dave Gorman says he's "amazing".

YOU SEEM A BIT FAMILIAR, SO, ER, WHO ARE YOU?

It could be one of two things. I'm either that bloke that keeps looking through your window, or you've seen me on the telly presenting silly music shows, or heard me on Radio 1 on Sundays.

THAT'S THE ONE. BUT THERE'S OTHER STUFF, RIGHT...

I'm also that bloke who interviews celebrities for holymoly.com. I told Sir Alan Sugar off for leaving his phone on, asked Mr T to hold me like a baby, and got Simon Cowell to admit to judging dog shows for his mum.

DO YOU RECKON ANY OLD DOUCHEBAG CAN MAKE IT AS A PRESENTER?

Based on the fact that both Danny Dyer and Joe Swash have recently presented shows, the answer is 'yes'.

ON THAT NOTE, MET ANY FAMOUS PEOPLE WHO WERE ARSEHOLES?

Kate Nash was a bit difficult - she took herself quite seriously. I also once wound a band up so much that their lead singer tried to punch me in the face. It was a feature on Pocket TV [another online show Matt presents] called Quiz In My Pants where I conducted an interview in my underwear, so I felt even more vulnerable.

NICE. SO WHERE WILL YOU BE IN FIVE YEARS' TIME? APART FROM IN YOUR PANTS.

Hopefully I'll still be on your telly and your radio, and continuing to annoy or delight popstars. The likes of Alexander Armstrong and Dave Gorman have watched my stuff and informed me that they liked it, so that's a good sign.

FYI

● Matt refuses to name the band who tried to punch him, despite us pestering him to the point where he himself got a bit pissed off. It's gone full circle, people.
● Presenting runs in the family: Matt's sister Kate does tons of stuff for kids telly. She is also very fit. Sorry, Matt.

ABOUT

WHERE: Facedown at La Scala, London.

WHO THERE? Upsettingly pretty girls, weird-faced drunk dudes, lovely FRONT lady El Wood.

BEST BIT: Being shown the miracle of nature that is matching folding tongues.

WORST BIT: Being shown the hideousness of nature that is a dude with a boob.

THE LOOK: Sweaty-ass fringes (dudes), deliciously little clothing (girls).

DRINK OF CHOICE: Red Stripe.

DRUNKEN LUNACY RATING: 9 kinky tongues out of 10.

WHAT'S THE WORST thing that can happen on a night out? Worse than finding a dog-plop in your sherry; worse than a tramp rubbing semen in your ear; worse still than the club you were going to turning out to be a sad pile of planks in a quarry because you'd read the flyer wrong? It's turning up somewhere to find it's all dudes. A meat-filled, man-tastic sausage-fest; a chapageddon; a blokepocalypse; a fella bonanza. That's rubbish.

That, thankfully, is not the case at Facedown, London's biggest rock night, which is crawling with the kind of women that normally only exist in adverts for products so sexy they don't exist yet. Plus, they can do wacky shit with their tongues, which is as eerie as it is amazing.

Facedown's going from strength to saucy strength since moving from the now-demolished Astoria 2, with bands like You Me At Six, Lower Than Atlantis, Deaf Havana and The Ghost Of A Thousand popping up to perform recently. By this time next year it'll probably be held in Buckingham Palace, and you'll only get in if you promise to strap your boner down with masking tape and tap it with a refrigerated teaspoon if you have to, you 'orrible, filthy sex-pest. Good bloody night, though.

FRONT SCORE CARD

THIS MONTH... HOLIDAY ROMANCE

WHILE OFF IN SUNNY VACATIONLAND, CUPID'S ARROW STRIKES. BUT HOW'S IT ALL GOING? FIND OUT WITH FRONT'S PATENTED SCORECARD SYSTEM!

-384 The hotel barmaid has caught your eye, so you power through a phrasebook in order to have a lovely chat. You blurt out your opening gambit – and she hoiks a pina colada in your face! Back in your room, sobbing, you double-check your phrasebook. Turns out you accidentally asked her to shit on your back while you shouted sex-words into the duvet. Fucking whoops!

+634 You've had a lovely week with your exotic new ladyfriend: she's taught you about her culture (eating olive oil ice lollies) and you've taught her about yours (tucking your hand into your jeans while you watch Come Dine With Me and fart). You'd probably have tried to enjoy it all the more if you'd known that your plane home was going to explode from terrorism, but whaddya gonna do.

-236 After a solid week of drinking like fish and rutting like hounds, you and your foreign fitty are off to meet her family. She takes you to their villa, they come to the door and... Holy incest, they're your parents! She's your sister! It's all coming back now... Shit, you two have been drrrrinking.

+157 A couple of years after your happy summer of fondles, a letter arrives from your ex-flame, along with – oh shit! – a photo of her with a little boy who looks just like you. No, wait... That is you. She's just 12ft 8in tall. You never noticed at the time, because you were so very in love, and her dramatically physical hand jobs blinded you to her vast jumboness.

WORLD CUP BLUFF-O-MATIC

WATCHING THE WORLD CUP AND DON'T WANT TO GET SHOWN UP FOR YOUR LACK OF FOOTY KNOWLEDGE? SIMPLY PICK THREE NUMBERS FROM ONE TO TEN, READ THEM IN SEQUENCE AND TA-DAA! YOU'LL SOUND LIKE A PUNDIT IN NO TIME!

1. THEY'RE KICKING LIKE PISSED-UP CHINESE HORSES

1. AND THEY'RE SPUNKING OUT GOALS LIKE RUBBED, STICKY COCKS

1. WHICH IS JUST SO TYPICAL OF THESE CHEATING, SHIT-HAIRED BASTARDS

2. THEY KEEP THREATENING TO SCORE ONE OFF, RIGHT IN THEIR FACES

2. AND THEY BADLY NEED TO GET SOME GRAVY IN THIS PIE

2. SO I'D EXPECT SORE BUMHOLES IN THAT DRESSING ROOM LATER

3. IF THEY KEEP ATTACKING LIKE THIS THEY'LL BE HALFWAY TO MIDDLES

3. AND THAT'S AS BIG A THREAT TO THESE BOYS AS WAR, FAMINE OR DISEASE

3. SO IT'S STILL ALL TO PLAY FOR IF THEY CAN JUST NEUTRALISE ARAB-STYLE

4. HE'S GATECRASHED THE BACK FOUR'S LITTLE CAKE PARTY, THERE

4. AND IF THEY CAN GYPSY UP A GOAL FROM THIS IT'LL BE CARAVANS TO THE WHISTLE

4. COS, AT THE END OF THE DAY, IT'S THE GOALS THAT ADD UP INTO NUMBERS

5. HE'S ATTACKING AND DANCING LIKE A MAN WITH STARVING LEGS

5. WHILE THEIR CAPTAIN'S STOOD AROUND WITH HIS SKIRT ON INSIDE-OUT

5. AND AT THIS RATE IT'LL GO TO DOUBLE FOUR-WAY RE-PENALTIES ON AGGREGATE

6. THE LADS ARE STARTING TO GET A REAL TODDLER'S COB-ON NOW

6. BUT HE'S SLICED THAT DRY WHEN HE SHOULD'VE BREWED IT A WHILE

6. BECAUSE THAT BALL'S NOT BEHAVING ITSELF IN A MANNER BEFITTING A LADY

7. THEY WANT TO GET A COUPLE OF SIDEWAYS CACKERS UP IN THE AIR

7. BUT THEY'RE ALL OVER THEM LIKE A HAIRY BROWN BLANKET

7. SO IT'S A CASE OF NERVES TIMES TIREDNESS MINUS TACKLING EQUALS FOOTY

8. THEY'RE RUNNING OUT OF OPTIONS AND CHAT-UP LINES HERE

8. ALTHOUGH THEY'RE ALL CURLING UP FOR A WANK AND A NAP ON THE BENCH

8. AND YOU CAN'T PLAY AT AN INTERNATIONAL LEVEL WITH A MESSY BIB ON

9. THERE ARE SOME RANCID PONGS COMING OFF THOSE SIDELINES

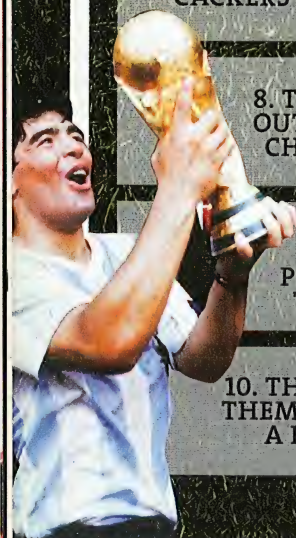

9. BUT THEY'VE GOT TO TRAP THAT BALL DOWN THEN PUNCH IT LIKE A BISHOP

9. AND NO MANAGER WORTH HIS CARAMELS IS GOING TO PUT UP WITH THAT

10. THE KEEPER'S GIFTED THEM A DINNER FIT FOR A DAMSEL, THERE

10. AND THEY'RE SEMI-PUSHING THAT OFFSIDE SIDE-EDGE BACK IN FRONT OF THEM

10. WHICH IS HOW YOU END UP IN A PENALTY AREA THAT'S GOT NO BUTTOCKS TO IT

SO YOU WANNA BE A FIGHTER!

OUT
ABOUT

WHERE: Cargo, East London.

WHO DERE? Tek One, Tomb Crew.

BEST BIT: It pissed it down and all the girls got, like, totally soaking wet.

WORST BIT: Being frisked so hard by the door staff that gonads were crushed left, right and centre.

THE LOOK: Ralf Lauren polos. Jokes! It was all Drop Dead tees and that.

SHEFFIELD'S FINEST clobber-making peoples Drop Dead brought a ball-tingling mix of ace people, damn cool music and sexy girls down to London's grubby East End – all to celebrate the opening of their new shop in the capital.

It's weird – we'd had a party of our own a few days earlier, and it was just us and a half-empty bag of Cadbury's Mini Rolls. What did the Drop Dead party teach us about how to throw a good shindig?

1 GET ACE PEOPLE ALONG

WHO THEY INVITED: Tons of beautiful women, the rest of Bring Me The Horizon, Cancer Bats, Drop Dead peoples and more, more, more.

WHO WE INVITED: Creepy Mr Henderson from next door, a Roger Moore lookalike and our dad.

2 PLAY KICK-ASS MUSIC

WHAT THEY PLAYED: They had ace dubstep dudes Tek-

One performing, which was pretty fucking sweet.

WHAT WE PLAYED: We made a drum from a biscuit tin, some rubber bands and a tea-towel. It was pretty shit.

3 MAKE SURE EVERYONE'S HAVING FUN

HOW THEY HAD FUN:

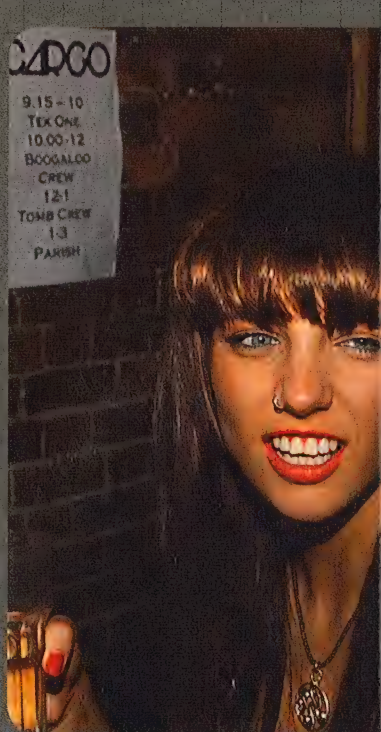

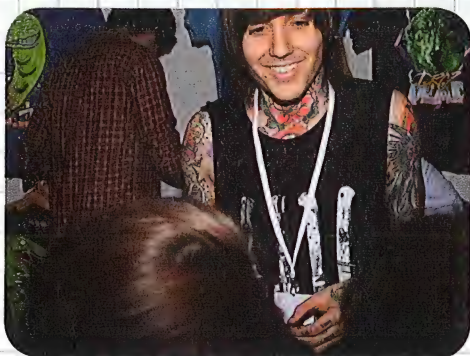

Everyone danced their tits off, drank heavily and had a right old proper knees-up.

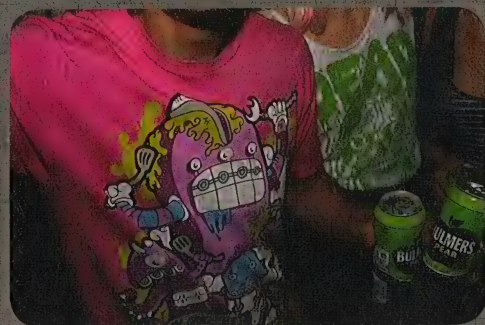

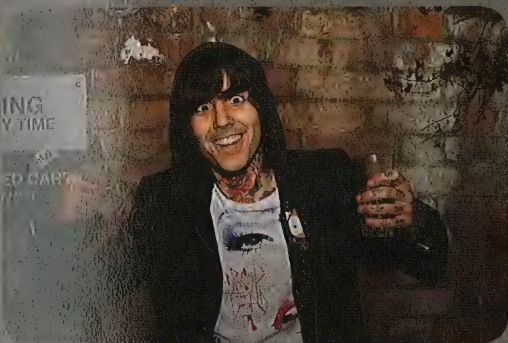

HOW WE DIDN'T HAVE ANY FUN: We got a nosebleed and missed Holby City.

4 DRINK THE RIGHT DRINKS

WHAT THEY DRUNK: Cans of cider and lager, spilling all over people.

WHAT WE DRUNK: The fucking Spar wouldn't serve us any booze, so we made our own mix of mouthwash and prune juice.

WORKIE CHALLENGE

WE FORCE YOUNG HOPEFULS TO COMPLETE EVIL TASKS. THIS MONTH....

BECOME A WEREWOLF

THE WORKIE: Jenn Brabbin, 21, from Bude.

TEA-MAKING SKILLS:

Anytime Jenn asked if anyone wanted a cup of tea, she called them 'doll' or 'sweetheart', which boosted everyone's self-esteem. Pretty effin' rare, though.

PUNCTUALITY: Jenn didn't show up one day because she had 'university', or something. What the hell is that? Rubbish.

WEAKEST MOMENT: When no teas were forthcoming, a note was left on Jenn's desk asking for some tea, highlighted and really hard to miss. Jenn looked at it quizzically for a while, and then didn't make any tea.

THE CHALLENGE: The PR company handling the release of The Wolfman got in touch kindly offering to get a makeup pro to wolf someone up. You always see people in film Making Ofs complaining about how long that stuff takes, and how unpleasant and uncomfortable it all gets, so we thought we'd get a workie to do it.

Jenn hit the pox-laden streets of London for a breakneck tour of landmarks and tourist traps, and was greeted with a mixture of amusement and total nonchalance by passers-by. She made a strangely alluring werewolf, possibly because the manky wolf teeth forced her to smile constantly. There's nothing creepy about us fancying her in the wolf getup, right? Right?

Jenn, before the makeup. ZOMG!

VERDICT:

TASTE TEST: PRE-MIXED DRINKS

READY-MIXED BEVERAGES FOR YOUR NO-PISSING-ABOUT PLEASURE? SOUNDS AMAZING! BUT WHICH ARE SUPER-SUPER AND WHICH ARE MEGA-CRAP?

	CLASSINESS	ANIMAL TO RIDE WHEN DRINKING IT	FACT	TASTING / RATING
GORDON'S GIN & TONIC 250ML, 6.4% ABV, 1.6 UNITS  £1.41 88p/unit	Not just one brand name, but two, with the inclusion of Schweppes. Hot shit, there's no pissing about here		Supposedly, at any given time the recipe for Gordon's is only known to four living people. Possibly bollocks, though	"This smells and tastes exactly on the money. This is what you want with a gin and tonic. It's motherfucking delicious, it is" RATING: Classy, delicious, and the cheapest of the lot booze-wise. Amazing 5/5
JACK DANIEL'S & COLA 330ML, 6% ABV, 2 UNITS  £2.06 £1.03/unit	If you hold the can in a certain way, hiding the branding, it looks like a can of Coke Zero. To be fair, you need to be a bit pissed to get this effect		Jack Daniel died from blood poisoning after hurting his toe kicking a safe. His last words were, "One more drink, please"	"You can taste the Jack Daniel's, but the shitty non-Coke is killing it. The bigger can's better, though" RATING: Great volume-wise, let down by underwhelming cola 4/5
BARCARDI & COLA 250ML, 7% ABV, 1.75 UNITS  £1.85 £1.05/unit	Shame they've gone with the shitty sounding cola and not stumped up for proper Coke. Only dads and shit uncles refer to it as 'cola'		Despite originating there, Bacardi can't be found in Cuba - the Bacardi family had a big ol' falling out with Castro yonks ago	"You can really taste the Bacardi, but is this Panda Pops, or something? You don't ever ask for a rum and cola - you ask for a rum and Coke" RATING: Enjoyably strong, but a bit sickly and again let down by the mixer 3/5
PIMM'S & LEMONADE 250ML, 5.4% ABV, 1.4 UNITS  £1.85 £1.32/unit	Elegant, contains a royal seal, and resembles a post box. We didn't know whether to drink it or put it on the mantelpiece		The 'No. 1' on the can refers to it being Pimm's No. 1 Cup. Of the original six Pimm's, only 1 (based on gin) and 6 (based on vodka) are still made	"It's a bit Lucozade-y, but does what it says on the tin. It removes the event from proper fruity Pimm's, though, and would be fucking rank warm" RATING: Pleasant enough, but Pimm's just isn't as good without the floating fruit and gimmicks 3/5

FRONT GRUB NO. 18: BACHELOR'S SOUP

1 Pour a can of PREMIUM-STRENGTH LAGER into a glass. If you don't have a glass, rob one from a pub.

2 Add as much BOMBAY MIX as seems appropriate. Yes, this is disgusting.

3 Follow it up with SMALL PIECES OF CHEESE. Any kind'll do - they'll all be vile.

4 Drink/eat as much of it in one go as you can, taking care not to choke. It's great being single!

FRENCH PRESS COFFEE

IF IT WAS A BAND: ENTOMBED
"French Press coffee from a cafetiere is for when you get into coffee and see where it came from, like Entombed showing you where Hatebreed's sound came from. Like, you're listening to Entombed's Wolverine Blues and you realise, 'Holy shit! This is where they get it from! This is fucking awesome!'"

DRIP COFFEE

IF IT WAS A BAND: HATEBREED
"Drip coffee, from a coffee percolator, is your standard stuff that you can get anywhere. It's the coffee that you first get into, your first hardcore band, like Hatebreed. But after a while you start figuring out different kinds of stuff and that's where your coffee flavour goes. It's the building blocks."

COWBOY COFFEE

IF IT WAS A BAND: TRASH TALK
"This is your gnarly shit-camping-style coffee cooked in a pan. Not a lot of people are into Cowboy Coffee, but you'd think that they would be. It's an acquired taste, I guess. Let's use Trash Talk as Cowboy Coffee. I'll go, 'Oh you like hardcore? Listen to this...' and people'll be, 'Argh, it's too brutal!'"

FULL FRONTAL

Q&A: LIAM EXPLAINS STRAIGHT EDGE

HOW DO YOU DEFINE STRAIGHT EDGE?

My definition of being straight edge is that it's no drinking, no drugs and no smoking.

That's about it. There's definitely other sides of it that would go as far to say no caffeine and no sex. The whole vegan/vegetarian thing comes into it, too. It's a toxin-free life, which is open to interpretation.

DID YOU KNOW WHAT LEVEL OF STRAIGHT EDGE YOU WOULD BE WHEN YOU STARTED?

For me, the big thing was the fact that it was going to be for the rest of my life. I think that's the biggest idea, committing to it forever. You realise you don't need these things in your life and it's not even a big deal. I'm not going to do heroin, you know? You just know that about yourself.

DID YOU DRINK BEFORE?

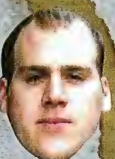

I drank for a long time and came to the conclusion that I didn't need it in my life. I can have just as much fun not being wasted, and I save money and I don't feel like shit. I'm not saying I don't want people to drink - I do want them to drink so they can come party with me. I just want everyone to have fun and be comfortable.

DO YOU KNOW PEOPLE THAT WERE STRAIGHT EDGE FOR YEARS, AND WENT "FUCK THIS"?

Oh yeah, tons of kids do. I've got friends that have stopped, which is fine. What I think is weird is when someone breaks edge at 30 - why does it make sense now to drink when you haven't for so much of your life? And when all those guys break edge, they drink like they're 14 because they've never been wasted, so their friends are just steady drinking and the edge breakers are like, "LET'S DO KEG STANDS!" and barfing on their mom's car.

AMERICANO

IF IT WAS A BAND: THE BRONX
"The Americano comes from when American GIs were in Italy for the Second World War and they couldn't handle espresso, so had it watered down. I really like it. It's like The Bronx, where they're taking these things that we love and adding their own ingredients to make their own taste. Plus, you can't find them everywhere, but they never let me down and I love them."

FYI

- Not all of Cancer Bats are straight edge, just Liam and guitarist Scott.
- The coffees we used in this shoot were fucking freezing, having been sat around for ages.
- Apparently, Eva Spence from Rolo Tomassi's nan calls them 'Gangster Bats'. Ha!

WHERE AM I THEN?

ROWDY CROWDY

IT'S ALL GOING OFF, BUT CAN YOU SPOT
THE CRAZIES AMONGST THE VILLAGERS?

CROWDS CAN GET pretty terrifying sometimes, like if you're at a gig and everyone suddenly surges forward, except you were doing a stupid pose at the time, and the next thing you know you're being carried along against your will, unable to stop doing the stupid pose, and you've lost your mates and your phone and your shoes and you really need the loo.

Here's an equally terrifying crowd, of Derbyshire villagers competing in the annual Royal Ashbourne Shrovetide Football Match. As many people compete as want to, attempting to get an oversized ball from one end of the village to the other. The last thing you'd want in an environment like this would be a total wild card – a loose cannon of a bastard who was about to snap...

Shit a brick, it's all going wrong for you, then! For within this crowd are reality twat Paul 'Dangerous' Danan, and Patrick Bateman offa American Psycho. If you spot them, you win a lifetime supply of £20 notes. To redeem it, simply wander into your nearest bank and take it all from the safe. Seriously, we've phoned ahead and it's all fine.

SCAR FROM THE LION KING

FASHION STYLINGS: A Jeremy Irons fruity-actor voice is essential.

TYPICAL QUOTE: "Run away, Simba. Run away, and never return!"

OFTEN SEEN WITH: Hyena sidekicks, a nasty expression.

HOW TO GET THE SCAR: The fact that his name is Scar suggests he must have been born with it, so maybe his and Mufasa's mum smoked while pregnant.

TYPICAL MISCHIEF: Brother killing, nephew bullying, hyena deceiving.

KEY WEAKNESS: His own lies. It's like a Shakespearean tragedy.

FREDDY KRUEGER

FASHION STYLINGS: Dennis The Menace threads, knifey gloves, sweet hat.

TYPICAL QUOTE: "I'm going to split you in two!"

OFTEN SEEN WITH: Teenage victims, Jason Voorhees from Friday The 13th.

HOW TO GET THE SCAR: Freddy was burned alive by disgruntled parents after murdering a bunch of children, the naughty bastard.

TYPICAL MISCHIEF: Dream invadin', rhyme speakin', youngster slaughterin'.

KEY WEAKNESS: Awake people, burial, pipe-stabbings, furnaces...

CRATER-FACE FROM GREASE

FASHION STYLINGS: 1950s leathers, slicked-back 'do.

TYPICAL QUOTE: "The rules are... there ain't no rules!"

OFTEN SEEN WITH: Misfits, the LA River, a sweet-ass car with knives sticking out of it.

HOW TO GET THE SCAR: Eating a lot of greasy food as a teenager, rarely washing and making sure you pick every spot should fuck your face up.

TYPICAL MISCHIEF: Drag racin', car razorin', cacklin'.

KEY WEAKNESS: John Travolta, lucky pennies, greased lightning.

JONAH HEX

FASHION STYLINGS: The classic cowboy look, complete with six-shooters, only meltier.

TYPICAL QUOTE: "Cut myself shavin'"

OFTEN SEEN WITH: Megan Fox look-alikes, undead nemeses.

HOW TO GET THE SCAR: Either a red-hot tomohawk (in the comics) or a white-hot branding iron (in the film).

TYPICAL MISCHIEF:

Vengeance seeking, people unsettling, Civil Warrin'.

KEY WEAKNESS:

Historical inaccuracies, John Malkovich.

OMAR FROM THE WIRE

FASHION STYLINGS: Flamboyant yet urban – ghetto fabulous, you could say.

TYPICAL QUOTE: "How you expect to run with the wolves come night when you spend all day sparring with the puppies?"

OFTEN SEEN WITH: Various Baltimore scumbags, guns, large bags of cash.

HOW TO GET THE SCAR: Actor Michael K Williams was cut in a bar fight on his twenty-fifth birthday.

TYPICAL MISCHIEF: Drug dealer robbin', scumbag murderin', Robin Hoodin' Baltimore.

KEY WEAKNESS: Bullets.

THE MOST

MAN IN

ARGENTINA

HIS DRIBBLING SKILL'S GOT GROWN MEN A-DROOLING AND WORLD CUP OPPONENTS A-SHAKING – BUT BACK IN HIS HOMETOWN, ARGENTINA'S MIND-BLOWING NUMBER 10, LIONEL MESSI, "HAS LESS FANS THAN A REFEREE". BUT WHAT ELSE DON'T YOU KNOW ABOUT THE WORLD'S BEST FOOTY MAN?

1 HIS OWN FANS DON'T LIKE HIM

Known as 'The Catalan' because of his love for his club, Barcelona, Argie footy fans accuse lil Lionel of not knowing the national anthem and answer polls as to whether he should be in the lineup with a resounding 'no', claiming that he doesn't give a shit about his homeland.

2 HE'S AT THE CENTRE OF A DIRTY CONSPIRACY

Footy fans have long bickered about who the Greatest Eva Player is, with most boiling it down to either Brazilian Viagra-scoffer Pele or mad-eyed drugs-scoffer Diego Maradona – the dude who just so happens to be the manager when Messi largely plays a bit poo for Argentina. That's given conspiracy lovers boners, and whispers abound that Diego is scuppering Leo's international career so he'll forever be loved more by Argie folk...

3 HE DON'T TAKE NO SHIT

Making his international debut against Hungary at just 18, he was always going to get a bit of violent attention from the hench bruisers on the other team. Messi, though, dealt with it in the only way a stropky teen with magic feet would. He elbowed one of the buggers in the chops and got sent off just two minutes after coming on as a substitute.

4 HE'S GENETICALLY ENGINEERED

Well, sort of. At ten, he was diagnosed with a growth hormone deficiency and had nightly hormone injections for four years. Spanish giants Barcelona snapped him up with promises to cover the £500-a-month cost of the medication, and without it he would have grown to just 4'7", rather than the 5'7" he currently stands at. If he'd had nightly and daily injections, however, he might have grown to over eight feet tall! Might have.

5 HE'S GOT SPOOKY PARALLELS WITH MARADONA

They're both short, they've both played for Newell's Old Boys in Argentina, and they both made their international debuts against Hungary. Messi even scored an identical goal to Maradona's dribble-the-fuck-around-everyone 1986 World Cup goal against England in a cup semi-final in Spain. The only place they really differ is their epic drug intake. Where Diego chose a trolley-load of cocaine, Leo's drug use was purely medicinal. Oh, and he's not been on the Italian version of Strictly, either.

6 HE'S WORTH MORE THAN ANY OTHER FOOTBALLER IN THE WORLD EVER

Messi's contract buy-out clause at Barcelona is a whopping 250 million Euros. To put that in context, you could buy Real Madrid's 80 million-Euro man Cristiano Ronaldo three times and still have enough change for a bag of chips. You could also:

- Buy every ticket to the Download festival for the next ten years.
- Have Alex Carter, who used to play Lee in Hollyoaks, make a personal appearance at your house every day for 116 years.
- Remake the entire Jurassic Park trilogy (original cost: €175 million) with enough left for a few rom-coms.

7 HIS BODYGUARD'S GOT A SHIT NICKNAME

While Leo is known as the 'Little Flea', his bodyguard, Ariel Pugliese, is said to be the leader of one of the most feared hooligan gangs in Argentina – currently being investigated for gun-smuggling and murder – but has one of the least feared nicknames: 'The Worm'.

8 HE'S A PROPER MUMMY'S BOY

Remember that time your mum had to come into your school and speak to the headmaster about you being bullied? No? We, um, don't either. But Messi does. In fact, his Mum told a reporter: "Why are they [Argentina fans] always against him? He gets really hurt when people say bad things about him. He suffers a lot. It then takes him a while to get over it." Good one, Mum, that'll sort it.

9 HE DOESN'T LIKE READING

"So what if he doesn't like to read?" says Barcelona manager Pep Guardiola. "Let everyone else read and let him play the way he does." Which means he won't be reading this. Which means we can say anything we like about him. Like, "Messi loves sausages", or something. Yeah, take that Messi.

10 HE LOVES SAUSAGES

Doesn't everyone? According to his biographer, our man Messi actually prefers a nibble of Neapolitan schnitzel, to be precise, which is a delicious flattened meat coated in cheese and covered in breadcrumbs. But we bet he loves sausages as well. Who doesn't?

VITAL STATS

BORN: 24 June 1987, Rosario, Argentina

AGE: 22

CLUB CAREER:

Newell's Old Boys (youth); Barcelona (142 games, 86 goals)

INTERNATIONAL CAREER:

43 caps, 13 goals

HONOURS:

3x Spanish league titles, 1x Spanish Cup, 2x Champions League, 1x Olympic Gold Medal, FIFA World Player Of The Year 2009, European Footballer Of The Year 2009

11 NO ONE IN THE WORLD CAN STOP HIM

Real Mallorca manager Gregorio Manzano reckons the only way to do it is "with a rifle". Bulgarian legend Hristo Stoichkov says "you need a machine gun to stop Messi". Ex-Barca midfielder Jesus Pereda disagrees: "You couldn't stop him, even with a shotgun." Bet you could, though. If you really tried.

FOUR FOOLPROOF WAYS TO STOP MESSI

CONVINCE HIM THE WORLD WILL END

After taking a year out during the 1999/2000 season to spend time with loopy God-lovers the Seventh Day Adventist church, Argentina keeper Carlos Roa walked out on his club Real Mallorca after becoming convinced the world was going to end at the turn of the Millennium. He wandered back, head hung low, when it didn't.

DRIVE HIM MAD

Chunky Brazilian legend Ronaldo was officially the best player on the planet when his Brazil side reached the World Cup final in 1998 – problem being, he was also the barmiest. "The pressure had got to him and he started crying," said team-mate Roberto Carlos of the night before the final. He then had a fit lasting "30 or 40 seconds". Ronaldo did end up playing but was well out of sorts and France strolled past them 3-0.

GET HIM OVER-EXCITED

Pumped up at the prospect of playing Brazil in the 1950 World Cup, Yugoslavia striker Rajko Mitic was bounding out of the tunnel on his way to the pitch when he smashed his head open on a metal girder. Blood, stitches, wooziness and embarrassment followed, and when he took to the pitch his side were 1-0 down. They lost, and Milic promised never to headbutt any bits of metal ever again.

SHOOT HIM

The popular choice among opposing managers [see #11], and a plan tragically carried out before. In 1994, Colombian defender Andres Escobar sliced the ball into his own net in a World Cup game, meaning his nation took an early flight home from the tournament. A matter of weeks later, gangsters gunned him down in a bar. Commenting on a separate match a few days later, the BBC were forced to apologise after Alan Hansen said, "The Argentine defender wants shooting for a mistake like that!" with all the tact in the world.

KONG

AS AWESOME AS THE ECCLES CAKE, AND JUST AS FRUITY

IF MAD-SPECS CHEF Heston Blumenthal ever needs a new apprentice to help him cook up his mental foodie treats, he could do a lot worse than Magpie, the vocal nut job from loopy noise-makers Kong.

But don't expect anything as delicious as a bird-within-a-bird, or fart-flavoured ice cream, oh no. What Magpie's cooking up is designed to freak out more than just your taste buds. With skin-melting second album Heh, he also wants to attack the section of your mind where your creepiest, funniest nightmares live, describing the sound like "a plastic bag with two dead pigeons and frogspawn in it. Oh, and a drizzle of Tabasco."

Kong are masters at exploring darker-than-a-bat's-bumhole noise-rock: "Our song writing this time is hastier. And it's all recorded live."

And in the flesh, Kong are a kingdom of Jack Daniel's-lathered, hilarious circus punk, with freaky masks and aggro costumes adding an extra-dark dimension to their heavy-as-shit noise, which sounds like a gorilla eating LSD and wanking.

"We're getting younger and sexier," insists Magpie. "Our songs get shorter and fatter, so our dicks get longer and chubbier."

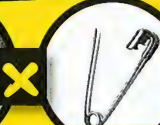

Er, Kong, ladies and gentlemen...

THE SWELLERS

MICHIGAN POP-PUNKS WITH BRASS BALLS AND THE KEYS TO P DIDDY'S SWIMMING POOL

THE SWELLERS know a few things about being in the right place at the right time. Their latest album, Ups And Downsizing, has been a hit with fans of classy pop-punk and bagged them tours with the likes of Less Than Jake and Paramore in the US. While on tour with Hayley Williams and her less sexy chums, they even managed to squeeze in a dip in P Diddy's swimming pool.

"We visited his old mansion, which was for sale," explains front man Nick Diener. "For some reason every weird thing that happens to us is usually caught on video, but that was the one thing that wasn't." Sounds shift to us. Are they trying to hide a skinny dipping video of lovely Hayley? We can only fantasise (at great length).

Not that The Swellers boys have let all these high-profile tours and pool frolics go to their heads. "There was the pressure of not knowing if the record was going to come out on a label at all," admits Nick. Still, rather than be discouraged, they boldly decided to scrap their trusty skate-punk template and write something much poppier.

"The result was something that we've always wanted to do." Now all he has to deal with is people from his hometown trying to convince him he's famous.

"It's weird. I have to reassure them we're not making much money, and that I'm still sleeping on my buddy's floor when I'm not on tour..."

Being broke also gets a mention in the new album's title. "The 'downsizing' refers to how things are going right now: companies are getting smaller, people are losing their jobs..." The title itself is a modified quote from cult stoner movie The Big Lebowski, "Strikes and gutters, ups and downs." Right now The Swellers might not have a rug to piss on, like in the film, but who gives a fuck when you've got P Diddy's pool to do it in instead?

Q&A
NICK
(VOX/GUITAR)

HELLO, NICK.
HOW'S LIFE?

It's awesome, ever since our record came out in the States.

We're making a lot of new friends, and coming to the UK and Europe is definitely what we're excited about now.

GOT A MESSAGE FOR YOUR UK FANS, THEN?

I want them to hit us up online and let them know what they want us to play at shows. We don't know what songs people wanna hear from what records, but we're gonna play a pretty good mix of what we have because it's our first time out here.

ARE YOU UP FOR GETTING MAULED BY TRANSATLANTIC GROUPIES?

Our groupies are young girls. I think the days of gorgeous 18- to 22-year-old girls coming to shows are over – or maybe it just doesn't happen to bands like us. We've all got girlfriends at home, so we talk to girls on the road but keep our distance. It's cool, provided they don't try to jump in our van...

TRUE DAT. ANY NON-MUSICAL HIGHLIGHTS SO FAR THIS YEAR?

My brother [The Swellers' drummer] Jonathan and I are moving into our own place, finally, which is definitely a milestone.

GOT THE HOT TUB AND A COKE MACHINE LINED UP?

We're trying to figure out a few things. Right now, all we have is a record player – hopefully we can get a jukebox and stuff.

20 QUESTIONS

CHRIS JERICHO

HOW WILL THE WRESTLING SUPERSTAR/
METAL SINGER HANDLE THE QUESTIONS
WE PUT TO EVERYONE?

WHO'S THE BIGGEST
FAMOUS PERSON YOU'VE EVER MET?

Mario Lopez from Saved By The Bell.
AC Slater's kind of a knob.

1 WHO'S YOUR FAVOURITE STAR WARS CHARACTER, AND WHY?

As a kid, always Chewbacca. He was a giant hairy ape that was cool. I also really liked the sarlacc, this giant mouth in the desert that causes you to die a thousand deaths.

2 WHEN DID YOU LAST THROW UP?

About a year ago, after a big whisky-drinking binge. After you blow chunks off a drink, you don't want to drink it again for a while, so that was the last time I drank whisky.

3 WOULD YOU RATHER HAVE NO LEGS OR NO ARMS?

No legs, so I could still pull myself around. If you had legs but no arms you could still walk, but what would you do when you got there?

4 IF YOU COULD HAVE A SUPER POWER, WHAT WOULD IT BE?

X-ray vision would be great. Sure, you could see girls' underwear, but you'd also see everyone's secrets behind every closed door. If someone was being an asshole, you could go, "Yeah, but you've got a small cock."

5 IF YOU COULD
PERSON OFF TV INTO A PEN OF LIONS, WHO WOULD IT BE?

Barack Obama. He's going to take all my money.

6 WHAT MAKES AN AWESOME NIGHT OUT PROPERLY AWESOME?

It's not about where you go, it's about who you're with. Get two or three of your best friends, talk about music, drink some beers and don't bring any bitchy chicks or assholes.

7 WHAT'S THE FIRST ALBUM
YOU EVER BOUGHT?

The Beach Boys' Endless Summer on 8-track. The first metal record I bought was Ozzy Osbourne's Blizzard Of Ozz. I'd seen all these chicks wearing Ozzy shirts, so thought I'd check him out, and was corrupted forever.

8 WHAT'S YOUR BOOZE DRINK OF CHOICE?

Grey Goose vodka and soda. It's simply the ultimate drink.

10 HAVE YOU GOT ANY PHOBIAS?

Giant spiders. I'm sure there'll be giant spiders attacking people after some kind of nuclear accident, and I'll be the only idiot who ends up getting eaten by one.

11 WHAT WOULD YOUR FUNERAL BE LIKE?

Sparsely populated.

12 DO YOU DO THE MYSPACE/FACEBOOK/
TWITTER THING?
WITHOUT LOOKING, HOW MANY FRIENDS/FOLLOWERS/ETC HAVE YOU GOT?

I do Twitter, and I've got about 90,000 people who care what I'm having for dinner. I'm no Ashton Kutcher.

13 WHAT'S
YOU'VE EVER NEEDED
THE TOILET?

I was in Mexico and had a bit of Montezuma's Revenge [traveller's diarrhoea]. I was on a plane taking off, and couldn't get up. When you gotta go, you gotta go - I pooped my pants.

FYI

- Chris' trademark move, the Walls Of Jericho, is also known as an 'elevated Boston crab'.
- Chris is WWE Smackdown's World Heavyweight Champion.
- Chris' band Fozzy was initially a covers band called Fozzy Osbourne.

14 WHAT'S THE WORST IDEA YOU'VE EVER HAD?

I had an idea for Slob Wear, a line of clothing for slobs, like plain white T-shirts that are pre-stained with food. I also had an idea for a shirt showing Bugs Bunny with a hard-on.

15 WHAT'S THE STUPIDEST THING YOU'VE EVER SAID TO A GIRL YOU LIKED?

I was on a first date at a waxwork museum in San Francisco, and they had a waxwork of Hannibal Lecter. There's a line in that film, "I can smell your cunt." She, uh, hadn't seen The Silence Of The Lambs.

16 WHAT'S THE MOST ILLEGAL THING YOU (OR "A FRIEND OF YOURS") HAVE EVER DONE?

Well, I've been arrested for public intoxication and driving under the influence. Plus, I killed a buncha guys.

17 WHAT HAVE YOU SEEN THAT YOU REALLY WISH YOU COULD UN-SEE?

I once opened the wrong door in a Japanese bathhouse, and saw a lady with a bush that went down to her knees.

18 WHAT'S THE WORST INJURY YOU'VE EVER RECEIVED?

I broke my arm in '94 and had a steel plate put in there, but that's about all.

19 WHY SHOULD PEOPLE GET THE NEW FOZZY ALBUM, CHASING THE GRAIL, AND CHECK YOU GUYS OUT LIVE?

It's the best hard-rock album of the year, and our band kicks ass. We've sold out every UK show we've ever played.

20 WHAT'S THE PUNCHLINE TO YOUR FAVOURITE EVER JOKE?

"And then she twisted his nipples until his ball-bag exploded!"

Chris' band Fozzy's latest album, Chasing The Grail, is out now

LADY GARDEN

OUR FIVE FAVOURITE
LADY BLOSSOMS
THIS MONTH

JOHANNA BERGLUND

Now that Lily Allen has retired from music in a sulk, a vacancy has arisen for a pop fitty for us to have erotic daydreams about.

Well, we've conducted a series of rigorous interviews, and we're pleased to announce that the position has now been filled by Johanna from perky new Swedish pop group Le Kid. Congratulations, Johanna, we'll see you Monday. (Le Kid means 'The Kid' in French by the way, readers. You're more than welcome.)

MARY ELIZABETH WINSTEAD

Mazzer Lizbo Winners (as we call her) first came to our attention as John McClane's daughter Lucy in Live Free Or Die Hard, but she's about to hit The Big Time playing Ramona. Michael Cera's love-interest in comic book blockbuster Scott Pilgrim. When you go and see it, nudge your mate and whisper, "John McClane's daughter," and he'll be all, "Oh, that's who she is..."

4 TARJA TURUNEN

Finnish warbler Tarja is the reigning queen of symphony metal, which is basically metal with a load of orchestras and opera-singing taped to the side of it. It's a bit of an acquired taste (and a taste mostly acquired by tubby, self-harming goth girls) but there's no denying that Miss Turunen is a saucy vampirey vixen who definitely knows how to wuh-tsssh a bullwhip.

ALI HOWARD

Ah, more tender pop-meat to throw onto the red-hot coals of our loins! It's a fiery musical sex-barbecue up in here, readers. Edible Ali is the silken-voiced front lady of the up'n'coming Lucky Soul, one of those bands who like to pretend it's still 1967. They probably demand to be paid in shillings and want Roy Orbison to produce their album. You know the sort. Pretty good, though.

NICKI MINAJ

As if Lil Wayne's life wasn't already an enviable whirl of groupies and cough-syrup abuse, he's now gone and formed a 13-strong hip-hop group called Young Money, which means he gets to spend his days hanging around with arselicious potty-mouthed rapper Nicki Minaj. She's got a track called Fuck You Silly. It makes our tummies feel funny.

CATERPILLAR OR BUTTERFLY

IT'S SOMETIMES HARD TO TELL IF A LADY IS A WINGED BEAUTY OR A MANY-LEGGED MONSTER. THANKFULLY, THE LADY GARDEN TEAM ARE HERE TO SETTLE SUCH MATTERS...

Nicole 'Snooki' Polizzi

SHE'S A BUTTERFLY

If you've been watching the jaw-dropping, eye-gouging, brain-amazing car crash that is MTV's Jersey Shore, you'll be familiar with the man-eating whirlwind of orange lunacy that is Snooki. She's as small as a button and as cute as a rabbit, but she's also spectacularly demented – and frankly, readers, that combination gives us the excitable.

SHE'S A CATERPILLAR

That radioactive skin colour (the result of several trillion hours at the tanning salon) and that inch-thick, clown-like makeup (which she even wears to the gym) really aren't doing her any favours. Also, can you imagine getting on the wrong side of her? You'd have to move country, change your name, wear a disguise all the time... It'd be like having a T-1000 after you.

VERDICT:

BUTTERFLY

OH, SOD IT: WOULD. WE'RE DRAWN TO HER LIKE THICKO FLIES TOWARDS A DEADLY COBWEB.

SEND US YOUR LADIES

Have you seen a beautiful lady in an advert, telly show, motion picture, music video or take-away menu? Then whip up an e-mail or text alerting us to her, and we'll see if there's a place for her in the sensual compost of The Lady Garden.

FAMOUS FAN

ROLO TOMASSI'S

James Spence

THE HARDCORE FIVE-PIECE ARE SHEFFIELD THROUGH AND THROUGH – EXCEPT SYNTHS MAN JAMES. JUST DON'T CALL THIS GOONER A GLORY HUNTER...

GOOD AFTERNOON, JAMES. SO, HOW DOES A SHEFFIELD BOY FIND HIMSELF SUPPORTING A NORTH LONDON SIDE?

It's a family thing, you know – my parents aren't from Sheffield. My dad used to go out round where he grew up, which was quite a big Arsenal area, and he just kinda fell into it, and he raised me as an Arsenal fan.

SO YOU HAD NO CHOICE IN THE MATTER?

No, but people still called me a glory hunter. To be honest, considering how awful both the Sheffield teams are, it's just as well.

D'YOU GET TO ANY GAMES AT ALL?

I'll make it to four or five games a season – opportunities are a bit limited living up north. It's pretty hard, what with being in the band, to get much free time to go, too. My dad's friends with a lot of people who are season ticket holders who often don't want to come to the games up north, against the likes of Wigan and Bolton, so we'd always go and watch us lose 1-0 to Bolton at the Reebok. I think that's happened three times now.

WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF THIS PAST YEAR?

It was an odd season. I always thought people were wrong at the start of the season when they said that Liverpool would win the league, despite, you know, selling one of their best players and not replacing him. Man United and Chelsea aren't the teams they used to be, but they could both go and win games when they needed to. We didn't have enough depth to our squad, or experience. If Van Persie had been fit, then who knows...

AND WHO KNOWS WHAT MIGHT HAVE HAPPENED IN EUROPE HAD IT NOT BEEN FOR LIONEL MESSI...

[Laughs] Barcelona were the only team I didn't want us to get. They were wicked games, though.

IS CESC FABREGAS GOING TO JET OFF TO SUNNY SPAIN THIS SUMMER, THEN?

I don't think so. At Arsenal, he's the best player in the team and he's the first name on the team sheet. You go to Barcelona, you've got Xavi, Iniesta, Yaya Toure, Busquets... He wouldn't be the automatic pick he is here.

YOU COULD'VE SAID THE SAME ABOUT THIERRY HENRY...

True. It was great that he got a hero's welcome when he came on during that Barcelona game.

He's certainly the best player I've ever seen play for us. I think there are other players who can and potentially will be better – Robin Van Persie, on his day, is one of the best forwards in the world. I just don't understand how some of the stuff he does is humanly possible.

IT'S BEEN FOUR YEARS SINCE YOU MOVED TO THE EMIRATES – IS IT BEGINNING TO FEEL MORE LIKE HOME NOW?

It's starting to feel more familiar, yeah. It's hard, cos it's more catered towards families, which makes good business sense, I guess. I've been to better-looking stadiums than Highbury, but in terms of the atmosphere, the Emirates hasn't got a patch on it.

WITH GETTING DOWN ARSENAL HARD, DO THE OTHER GUYS EVER DRAG YOU ALONG TO WATCH THEIR TEAMS?

Ad, our drummer, and Joe, our guitarist, are both Wednesday fans. Eva's never been bothered and our bassist, Joe, never really played sports when he was younger. I've been pulled along to a couple of Wednesday games, yeah. It's good fun in terms of just going to a game, and the chanting from one set of fans to the other is hilarious. But, you know, the level of football isn't, er, 'great'...

BORING, BORING ARSENAL

NAME: James Spence

DAY JOB: Vocals and synths, Rolo Tomassi

FROM: Sheffield

SUPPORTS: Arsenal

PRE-MATCH RITUAL: I'll always buy a programme, then have a pint with my dad.

HALF-TIME SNACK OF CHOICE: Chips with plenty of salt and vinegar, and a Snickers for the second half.

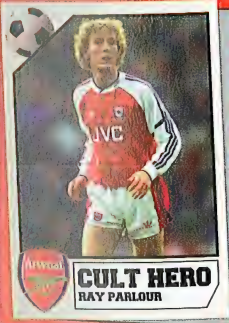

PROUDEST MOMENT: I was watching us play United with my family in a pub full of United supporters and Thierry Henry headed a winner in the dying seconds. We went absolutely ballistic in a silent northern pub and then promptly left.

Former midfielder Paul Merson: liked a drink

"I'VE ALWAYS BEEN CALLED A GLORY HUNTER, BUT SEEING HOW AWFUL BOTH THE SHEFFIELD SIDES ARE, IT'S JUST AS WELL..."

"The Romford Pele. He was one of the last old-school English players we had on our books and really worked his socks off every game. He wasn't afraid to score some belters from time to time, too."

"It's got to be Thierry. He embodied everything that Arsene Wenger was trying to make Arsenal and his record as the club's all-time highest goalscorer will remain for many years to come."

"In seasons past where we were genuinely a better team than United, he was never gracious in defeat. I imagine United fans would say the same of Arsene, but Ferguson's attitude towards refs that goes unpunished is just plain wrong."

EACH MONTH, MONTH, WE PROFILE, INTERVIEW AND INTERROGATE A SPORTING MAVERICK - INTERVIEW TONY SKATE LEGEND UP TO HAWK, STEP UP TO THE MARK...

FYI

When we spoke to Tony, he was between dropping a mixtape at a radio station and going off to film an advert selling broadband packages

THE SIMPSONS

"The Simpsons is such an establishment - when they include someone, it's because you represent some facet of pop culture, so that was a big honour for me. I did all my recording alone, so when I saw the episode I couldn't believe I was in the room talking with Bart and competing with Homer. It was surreal."

GUMBALL 3000

"It's fun, y'know? Legally they can't call it a race [because they drive on public roads], but I enjoy the adventure of it. The last time we went I had a crew in my car that was another professional skateboarder and a professional BMX rider. We followed the route, but we didn't stay with the pack and in doing that we went to a lot of different skate-parks along the way."

Tony was part of this year's Gumball 3000 Rally from London to New York. The Gumball Rally DVD, Coast To Coast, is available now from gumball3000.com

FAME

"When I'm out skating at a public skate-park, people expect other-worldly things from me, no matter what the terrain is like. That's probably the biggest pressure. People literally sit down and expect me to entertain them, but I might be there just because I want to have fun, not put on a show."

VIDEO GAMES

"At first, I was really excited to work on a video game, because I'd been playing them my whole life, so I dove right in. I thought it'd be a game skaters would appreciate and inspire them to buy video games, and that was about it. For the first few games some people thought my name was just a video game. I surprised some people when it turned out I actually existed. [Laughs]

I met a mom in Vegas at an event who told me, 'My kids talk about you, but I thought you were just a character...'

DUDE OF SPORT

NAME: Tony Hawk
BORN: 12/05/68, San Diego, California
LIVES: San Diego, California
JOB: Skateboarder, video game star, charity do-gooder
FUN FACT: Tony's famed for being the first person to land a 900 in competition - and it took him 12 attempts on the day to nail it

TONY HAWK:
SKATEBOARDER, VIDEO GAME LEGEND, SKATE-PARK BUILDER... D'YOU EVER FEEL LIKE YOU'RE A BRAND, WHAT WITH ALL THE DIFFERENT THINGS YOU DO?

I have an active role in each part of what I do. It doesn't get out there unless it went across my desk and has my approval, but it's definitely strange sometimes and takes on a life of its own. I think the best example of that is that kids will always call me by my first and last name, even when they see me in person.

WHAT'S THE WILDEST THING YOU'VE GOT INVOLVED IN?

I've done some amazing trips that aren't necessarily related to skateboarding. I've been on charity project trips to Sierra Leone and Cambodia, because I'm part of the Laureus Sport For Good Foundation. No one knew who the hell I was in those countries, but the idea is to raise awareness of those situations because I'm recognisable in other places, obviously.

I got invited to do that Dancing With The Stars show but I turned it down. They pay very well, but it wouldn't have been worth the humiliation...

YOU'VE BEEN INVOLVED IN BUILDING A LOT OF SKATE-PARKS, TOO...

I would get invited to skate-park openings in well-to-do cities where the councils were congratulating themselves for building facilities that were terrible. I saw a disconnect between the skaters who needed facilities and the cities providing them. I felt like public facilities were needed more in low-income areas where kids don't have many outlets, so I've made it my mission to provide facilities in those areas and bridge the gap between bureaucracy and the kids who need the parks, getting them involved in the whole process - not only the design but the fundraising and petitioning for the parks. With the right money, we're hoping to provide a lot.

YOU'VE BEEN SUCCESSFUL AT NEARLY EVERYTHING - ARE THERE ANY FAILED TONY HAWK BUSINESS VENTURES WE DON'T KNOW ABOUT?

There have been a few products that haven't reached the right target. We did some skateboard-shaped gummy vitamins, and the vitamins were solid, but the way the shapes came out... they looked like blobs. Skateboards don't really work in gummy form.

WHO KNEW, EH?

FINALLY, HOW DO YOU SPEND YOUR TIME AWAY FROM SKATING AND YOUR OTHER WORK?

I just stay at home. I don't live in Los Angeles, so my life's pretty low-key. I try to spend a lot of time with my kids, just doing normal stuff with them like going to the beach and taking them to the movies. I try to have quality time with them.

WHAT ARE YOU UP TO RIGHT THIS MINUTE?

I'm currently preparing for a theatre show in Southend with the 1966 England team. Should be a good one.

I'm supposed to be doing some work, but I'm watching loads of episodes of Mad Men instead. It's, like, the best telly ever made.

HOW IMPORTANT WILL IT BE TO HAVE A STRONG SHOWING UP FRONT THIS SUMMER?

Pretty important. It's more important that Rooney is fit, though. There are several teams with a great chance this time round, and I think we are one of them.

It's important if you want your boobs to be brown. Also, I'd recommend it if you want guys to buy you lots of drinks.

WHAT'S THE BEST WAY TO SCORE?

If you're not very good at scoring, then you're unlikely to score an amazing goal, full stop.

Just cut the crap. Personally,
I prefer it when people are more direct about things and don't mess about with cheesy chat-up lines and stuff.

HAVE YOU EVER CROWD SURFED?

Crowd surfing didn't exist when I was playing, so no. I just scored a goal and pretty much just got on with the game.

Not exactly, although I did get stuck in a moshpit once at a Cribs show.
I was a bit lame and wimped out a bit. I don't think I'm cut out for moshing.

WHAT'S YOUR FAVOURITE CUP IN THE WHOLE WORLD?

For me, it was the old European Cup Winners' Cup, which we won with Spurs in 1963 to become the first English team ever to win a European trophy.

A lovely cup of tea. I drink way too much of it, to the point where I can't sleep, but I just love it. I also collect teapots. There's a fun fact for you.

If you fancy watching the World Cup final with Greavsie, pop in Money Clothing Laptop Case, £195, moneyclothing.com

GOOD: Laptop cases are usually accompanied by a beard, a bum bag and sandals, but this big-pimpin' number from Money Clothing is actually pretty cool: it's leather, it's got a gorilla on it, and it has actual dollars sealed into it.

BAD: Two hundred quids? Now we have to buy a protective laptop case-case for our protective laptop case.

GOOD: Bored of viewing all your photos on a diddly mobile phone screen? The newly relaunched Polaroid camera prints off actual, factual, instant snaps that you can even hold.

BAD: Polaroid photos used to be steak slice-sized, but these are only bankcard-sized. A big "Boool" to progress.

GOOD: It's a chonking-massive hardback book full of more skateboarding images than you can shake a broken wrist at. Gasp in awe as fearless men fly and spin like pissed-up eagles!

BAD: If the best you can manage is a cack-footed ollie that results in a deck-end betwixt your plums, you might find Skatebook a bit demoralising.

KAMIKAZE YUMIKANDY

Japanese Sweets, from 39p each, cybercandy.co.uk

GOOD: It must be ace living in Japan. You fly home on your robot dragon after a hard day at the geisha factory, slip inside your Godzilla-shaped house, wank off to some tentacle porn and then scoff down a load of Froth Monster Ramune sweets for your tea. Lush.

BAD: These sweets are all made from melted-down schoolgirls.

SKATE OR DIE!

SK8 Dice, £4 for four, routeone.co.uk

GOOD: Skaters! Push yourselves to dizzy new heights/debilitating new injuries by rolling these dice and attempting whatever trick combo they come up with. If you fail then you're a bumblart pussy'ole and your mummy cuts your fish fingers up for you.

BAD: Getting told how to skateboard by some dice is like being advised on sexual technique by a Monopoly board.

JUMBO TELLY

Aiptek D25 Freeview/DVD projector, £330, firebox.com

GOOD: Recreate the giddy chuckles of watching World Cup games in the pub with this widescreen-TV-beating wonderbox, which projects both DVDs and Freeview telly at up to 75 inches across. They think it's all over (your living-room wall) – it is now!

BAD: To truly recreate that pub atmosphere, you'll need to invite about 250 drunkards to jostle about in your living room, totally blocking your fucking view.

WTF?

GRAND SPEAKERS

Parrot Zikmu by Starck Speakers, £1,000, zikmu.parrot.com

GOOD: Fancy upgrading those poxy 15-quid iPod speakers you got from Argos? Then why not chonk an entire flippin' grand on these minimalist space-age beauties?

BAD: Because you could buy two used cars for a grand and hold awesome illegal drag-races with them in the Lidl car park, is why.

FUCK SUMMER: BATHE IN THE GLORY OF THIS MONTH'S A-MAY-ZING ALT GIRL
INSTEAD. ER,
ACTUALLY, CAN
WE HAVE BOTH,
PLEASE? TA

DAY JOB: I'm a student bum.

DREAM JOB: I'd love to be a film director. I love anything by David Lynch, Martin Scorsese and Stanley Kubrick.

BEST THING ABOUT BEING A FRONT ALT GIRL? The girls in this mag are the best! They have a bit more about them than your average girl...

TURN-ONS: Long hair, tattoos, and a good sense of humour.

TURN-OFFS: Poor hygiene and really baggy jeans.

FYI

- Kate is massively into dogs and cats, and has a husky, three labradors, a doberman, a Siamese cat, a ragdoll cat, two other moggys and an African land snail. ZOMG!
- Kate was watching the film Adventureland while she was talking to us for this interview.

"I love getting rather tipsy and dancing all night"

WHO DO YOU HAVE A CRUSH ON? Julian Casablancas from The Strokes is the sexiest man alive. Keith Murray from We Are Scientists isn't bad either.

TATTOOS? I have Pixies lyrics on my wrist.

FAVOURITE FILM: It's too hard to just pick one, so a few of my favourites are Fight Club, A Clockwork Orange, From Dusk Till Dawn, Wayne's World and Jurassic Park.

FAVOURITE ALBUM: Doolittle by Pixies or Hatful Of Hollow by The Smiths.

BOOZE-DRINK OF CHOICE: Disaronno, because it tastes like liquified Cherry Bakewells. Some people think that's a bad thing.

FIRST GIG: Morrissey.

LAST GIG: The Slits and The Cibs. I saw Johnny Marr.

"I'm obsessed with Agent Provocateur lingerie"

PERFECT NIGHT OUT:

I love getting rather tipsy and dancing all night.

PERFECT NIGHT IN: Pizza, beer and a good horror film.

HIGH HEELS OR TRAINERS?

Depends where I'm going.

WHO GETS WHAT IN YOUR WILL? My friend Jess would get my cats. I'd probably let everyone fight over everything else, or have it buried with me, just to be awkward.

CLAIM TO FAME? I've been in music videos for White Lies and XX Teens. That's pretty cool, isn't it?

I SECRETLY HAVE A PASSION FOR...

Retro computer games. Sega and Nintendo are the best! I love Sonic and Donkey Kong.

"I'm a

FAVOURITE TATTOO:

I've got 15, but my fave is the portrait of my mum on my arm.

FIRST EVER GIG:

InMe at London Astoria.

FAVOURITE ALBUM:

Bring Me Your Love, by City And Colour.

BOOZE OF CHOICE:

Wine or Sailor Jerry's.

PERFECT NIGHT OUT:

Getting hammered with mates.

WHAT ARE YOU UP TO RIGHT NOW? Meant to be doing work, but that's not happening.

WHAT ARE YOU LISTENING TO AT THE MO'? Dirt, by Kids In Glass Houses. I adore the Welsh.

BOOZE OF CHOICE: I make mean cocktails. I'll go with a Van Dooley's. PERFECT NIGHT OUT: One where I've not drunk vodka. As long as I'm in good company, though, I'll have a sweet night.

SECRET PASSIONS: I love my PS3. No one believes me when I tell them I'm proper into Resident Evil.

LAURA KEARNS

21, FROM ESSEX

WHAT ARE YOU UP TO RIGHT NOW?

I'm a guitar teacher - I teach 11-year-olds how to play Iron Maiden.

WHAT'S YOUR PERFECT NIGHT OUT?

A medieval banquet by the sea. Slayer as the entertainment. Then we all dress up as Power Rangers.

WHAT'S YOUR BOOZE OF CHOICE?

Champagne Royale, motherfucker.

NO. 39 DON'T BE ON FIRE

FIG. 1 BE ON FIRE

We've all been there. You've been leaning on a barbecue showing off to pretty girls, and suddenly find yourself engulfed in flames, shrieking like a motherfucker. It's inevitable, really.

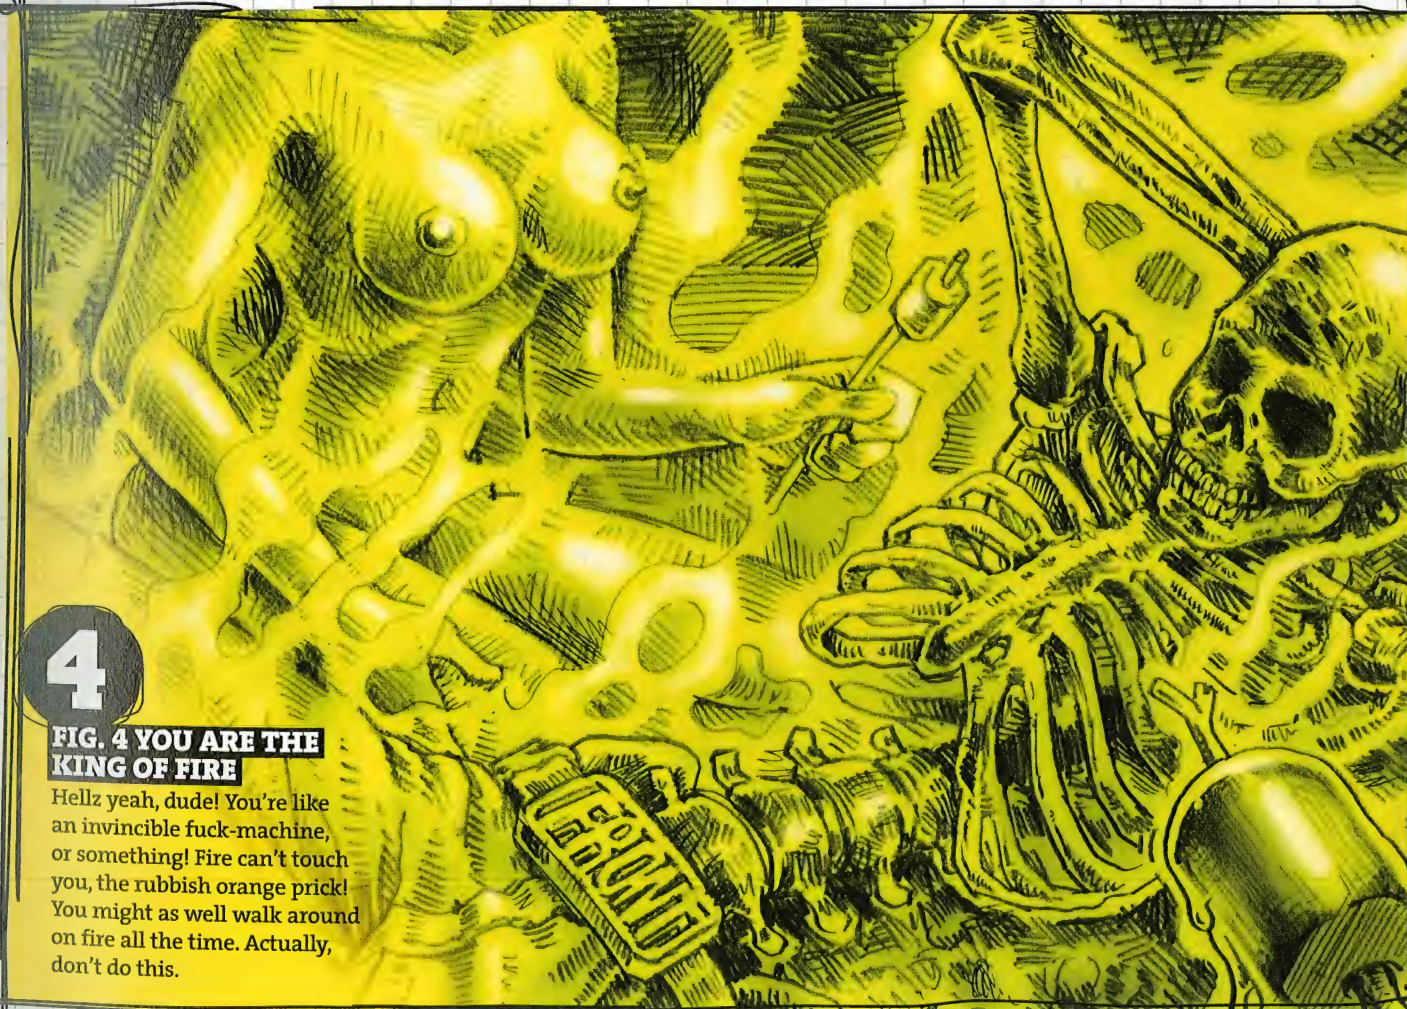

FIG. 2 GO TO GROUND

The natural temptation is to panic and run around like a knob, but this will cause more oxygen to get to the flames and beef 'em up. Instead, stop, and drop to the ground.

FIG. 3 ROCK AND ROLL

You need to restrict the flames' access to oxygen, so roll around as much as you can – you'll quell the flames and hopefully kill 'em within a few rolls. Feel free to shout rude words while doing this.

FIG. 4 YOU ARE THE KING OF FIRE

Hellz yeah, dude! You're like an invincible fuck-machine, or something! Fire can't touch you, the rubbish orange prick! You might as well walk around on fire all the time. Actually, don't do this.

SECRET LANGUAGE OF THE FILM STAR

THEY SAY HE LIGHTS UP THE SILVER SCREEN, BUT IN TRUTH HE'S JUST A FAT, WASHED-UP BAG OF FUCK ALL...

WHAT HE SAYS

ACTING HAS BEEN IN MY BLOOD SINCE BIRTH. ALTHOUGH I GREW UP IN A ROUGH NEIGHBOURHOOD, IT HAS ALWAYS BEEN MY CALLING.

WHAT HE MEANS

I used to wear my shoes on the wrong feet until the age of 14, so the other children would always mockingly throw their own shoes at my head. One day I ran crying into a drama school that was run by some priests. They said it was the greatest show of emotion they'd seen in years, and asked if I'd take my trousers down. The rest is a blur.

WHAT HE SAYS

FOR ME, THE FAME AND FORTUNE IS JUST A DISTRACTION – IT'S REALLY ALL ABOUT THE CRAFT OF ACTING.

WHAT HE MEANS

Well, it's sort of about acting. There's also the access to a world of prescription drugs, the free tennis equipment and the chance to screw fame-hungry waitresses. But, like I said, mostly the acting.

WHAT HE SAYS

I DON'T ACT – I INHABIT THE CHARACTERS THAT I PLAY.

WHAT HE MEANS

It's a kind of method acting – I pretend to become the character. In 2006, I got a role playing a man who was stranded on a desert island, so I went to live on a desert island for six months. I had to hunt for my food, and almost went mad thanks to the solitude. When I got back to LA, the film had been scrapped cos they said it was too much like Lost. The cunts.

WHAT HE SAYS

I'VE NEVER WON AN OSCAR, ALTHOUGH MOST OF MY CONTEMPORARIES HAVE. THAT'S FINE – WELL DONE TO THEM. IT DOESN'T NECESSARILY MEAN THAT THEY'RE BETTER ACTORS.

WHAT HE MEANS

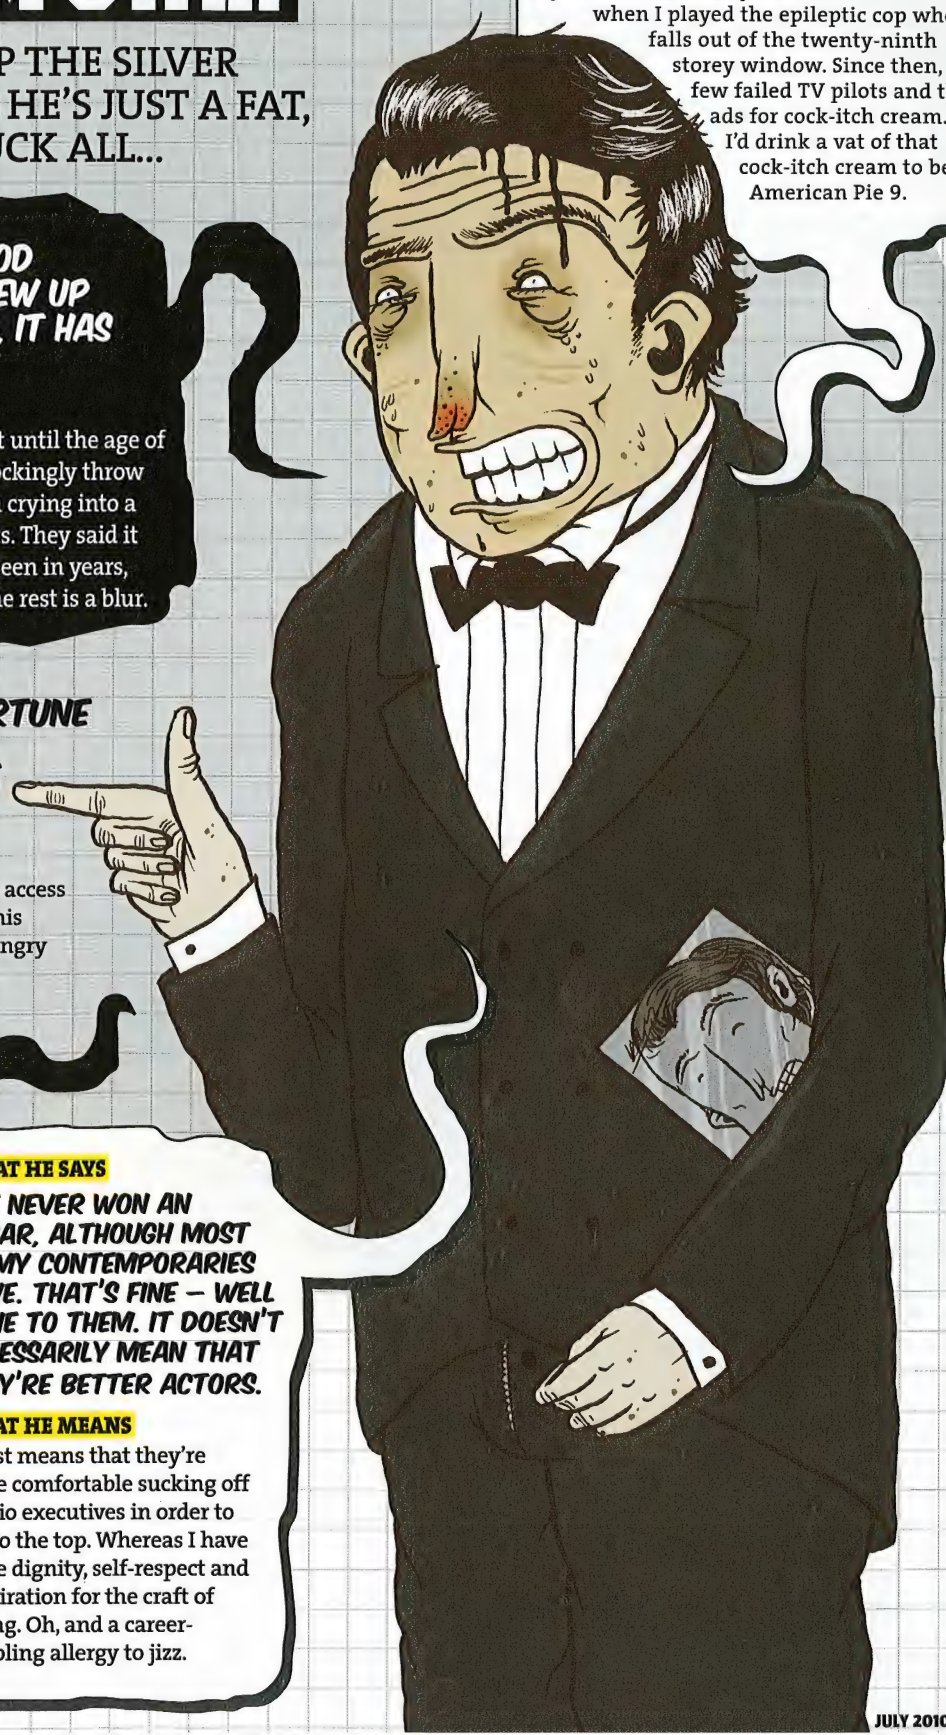

It just means that they're more comfortable sucking off studio executives in order to get to the top. Whereas I have more dignity, self-respect and admiration for the craft of acting. Oh, and a career-crippling allergy to jizz.

WHAT HE SAYS

BEING IN A BLOCKBUSTER IS A DOUBLE-EDGED SWORD. THE EXPOSURE AND MONEY ARE GREAT, BUT IS IT REALLY ART?

WHAT HE MEANS

I haven't actually been in a blockbuster since my cameo role in Major Shutdown in 1997, when I played the epileptic cop who falls out of the twenty-ninth storey window. Since then, it's a few failed TV pilots and those ads for cock-itch cream. I'd drink a vat of that cock-itch cream to be in American Pie 9.

WISE WORDS

THE SEXY LIFE OF A MODEL

OBSESSION OF THE MONTH:

MENTAL ALTER
EGOS

I'M JUST GONNA go right out there and admit it: I have an alter ego. Her name is Missy P. Gurgler III, and the photographer managed to catch her off-guard recently at a shoot, hence the picture opposite.

Missy is a complete mentalist who loves getting naked while singing the French national anthem. She speaks an entirely fictional language she learnt off watching porn and playing The Sims, and she keeps a pet rat in her handbag. She's a bit batshit, if I'm honest. I can't stand her, but you never know when she's going to come out...

There was this one time when she broke into the Wotsit factory and did a wee in every fourth bag she found, then that other time where she convinced a couple of pensioners that she was David Dickinson and ran away with all their jewellery and family heirlooms, all so she could buy a digital camera, the chief. I've noticed recently that she only seems to come out after I've had a can of Red Bull, so I've managed to keep her appearances to a minimum. Otherwise, I'm on a one-way ticket to Crimewatch.

TOP 5 PEOPLE AND THEIR ALTER EGOS

1 SOICHI NEGISHI/JOHANNES KRAUSER II In the Japanese flick Detroit Metal City, all Negishi wants to do is make happy pop music and hug cows, but his death metal alter ego Johannes would rather sing songs about sex crimes.

2 PETER PARKER/SPIDER-MAN You can't have a list of alter egos without Spider-Man - it's just not allowed. Who knew radioactive spiders could bring so much fun? I bet Peter didn't.

3 DAVE LIZEWSKI/KICK-ASS Mainly because he is a shit superhero, and for that he will be applauded. That film is worth watching just for the shit fight between him and Red Mist, among probably about a million other reasons.

4 BUTTERS STOTCH/PROFESSOR CHAOS Basically South Park's Butters with a bit of tin foil on his head.

5 HUNTER S. THOMPSON/RAOUL DUKE Purely for getting bang on it, fucked up and shanted all the time.

What I Does Love This Month

● YESMATE
She's my new Blood Elf Rogue on WoW. I got to level 80 and decided to start all over again and make this sexy bitch. She looks like a fit gypsy.

● FRED PERRY
I might just wear their clothes forever.

● DETROIT METAL CITY
Not the film with Edward Furlong - the anime-based film about a very unlikely death metal band which stars I from Death Note. It is completely mental. You all have to go out and watch it right now.

● SERIAL KILLER-INSPIRED POLYVORES
Loads of girls go on polyvore.com to make girly collections of fashion stuff. I just try and find things that Rose West would wear.

WHAT ELSE I HAS DONE THIS MONTH

BEWARE!

Nipples can fall off AT ANY TIME, even in the workplace. Make sure yours are safe!

WHERE'S DEREK ACORAH WHEN YOU NEED HIM?

You've got to wonder when your last drink of the night makes ghosts magically appear out your head.

DRIVING THE BOX CAR TO WORK

First stop, the bar! Then work. Promise.

DON'T ASK

Ever wondered what I would look like in a hijab? Now you know.

WHY?

Why do I do this? It's not even funny any more. I look like a human rubber ring.

THIS MONTH'S HIGHS

CHILDREN IN HOSPITAL WAITING ROOMS WITH SAUCEPANS STUCK ON THEIR HEADS

This is actually the most hilarious injury it's possible to have.

WIKIPEDIA VANDALISM

Looking up Dave Mustaine on Wikipedia and being greeted with 'Dave Mustaine is a guitarist and cocksucker' is pretty funny when you're not expecting it. Fucking useless for research, but funny.

JON LAJOIE MAKING IT

One of YouTube's funniest people (if you've not seen Everyday Normal Guy, you're hella missing out) seems to have made it proper big now, getting on actual telly over in America. Ace. We like that guy a lot.

PRETENDING TO BE DUNCAN BANNATYNE FROM OFFA DRAGON'S DEN

There's something incredibly satisfying about responding to a suggestion with an exasperated sigh and an, "I'm oot."

RIBS

Hell yeah. Best food in the world. They combine the deliciousness of meat with the animalistic awesomeness of tearing flesh from bone, and chicks dig the smell. Probably.

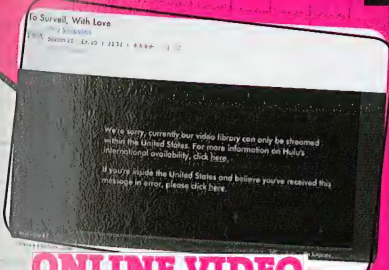

SKID MARKS

Nothing to add here.

BAD SHIT

THIS MONTH'S LOWS

ONLINE VIDEO GEOGRAPHY RESTRICTIONS

"We're sorry, but this video is not available to view in your region." Yeah? Well we're sorry too, but stick your fucking region restrictions up your dickhole, yeah? It's the fucking internet, you shouldn't know where we live.

GOD-AWFUL UNOFFICIAL WORLD CUP ANTHEMS

The cast of Hollyoaks really didn't need to release a World Cup single. Nor did Rik Mayall. Hollyoaks is pretty much Welsh anyway.

3-D BEING TOUTED AS THE ANSWER TO EVERYTHING

Being all flashy doesn't make up for something being rubbish. A turd is still a turd in 3-D.

SAM WORTHINGTON

Where the fuck did this dude come from? He just appeared one day, and got the lead roles in Terminator Salvation, Avatar and Clash Of The Titans, and they're saying he might be the next fucking James Bond. Plus, he's Australian.

WEEK AT LIFE THIS SUMMER

FEEL LIKE YOU'RE MISSING OUT ON ALL THE SUN, FUN AND BIKINI-CLAD BUMS? LET FRONT SHOW YOU HOW TO RIDE SUMMER LIKE A HORSEY AND BECOME A TOTAL SUN-KISSED WINNER!

Whether you're in Bognor or Barbados, there's a written-in-stone code of conduct when it comes to beach behaviour. It can make all the difference between being surrounded by giggling bikini girls and being angrily punched unconscious by locals and then thrown into the sea.

Win yourself admiring glances by filling your Speedos out with impressive meat.

You don't want to pop a full-on chubster – a semi is just enough to get you a few winks and thumbs-ups. Picture something faintly arousing, but not overly appealing – like Lady Gaga's misted-up tumpsy.

Play beach volleyball with your mates. The beach volleyball scene in Top Gun is the most powerfully heterosexual thing ever committed to film, so recreate it with lots of slo-mo buttock-patting, chest-bumping and oiled-up manly wrestling in cut-off denim shorts. You'll soon be balls-deep in ladies!

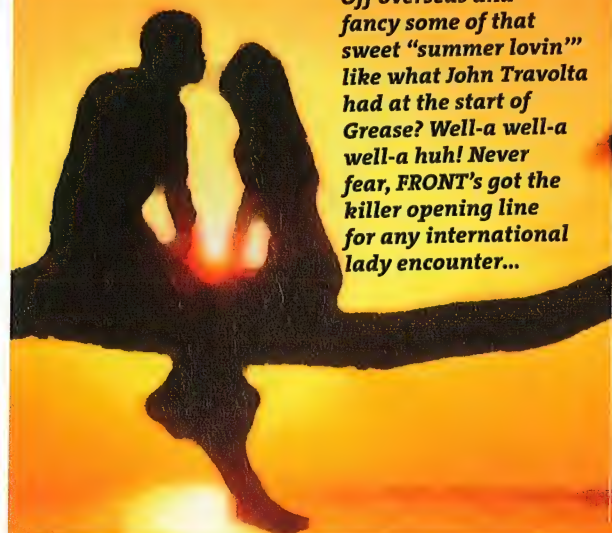

Don't bother with sun-tan lotion – that shit's for fancy-pants pussies who are scared of cancer.

Just lie in the sun until your skin starts bubbling and you've turned the colour of angry blood, and then – ping! – turn over and do the other side. Then – ping! – do the first side again, for twice as long. Ping!

OBE THE KING OF THE BEACH

2 BAG YOURSELF A HOLIDAY ROMANCE

Off overseas and fancy some of that sweet "summer lovin'" like what John Travolta had at the start of Grease? Well-a well-a well-a huh! Never fear, FRONT's got the killer opening line for any international lady encounter...

WHERE ARE YOU?	THIS LADY-WOOING PHRASE...	...IS THIS KNICKER-DROPPING CHAT-UP BOMB
 FRANCE	Votre vagin odeurs sec. Puis-je acheter une boisson?	Your vagina smells dry. Can I buy it a drink?
 SPAIN	De vuelta en el Reino Unido, me llaman La Extraordinaria Devastator Sexual	Back in the UK, they call me The Extraordinary Sexual Devastator
 GERMANY	Deine Augen sehen aus wie ein Engel's Titten	Your eyes look like an angel's tits
 ITALY	Devo aver sognato, perché penso che ho appena eiaculato sperma su tutto il piumone	I must be dreaming, because I think I just ejaculated semen all over my duvet
 AMERICA	Y'all sure do dang-doodle yee-haw darn-tootin' molasses!	Hello, you are very pretty. What is your name?

3 BECOME A WORLD CLASS SKATEBOARDER

When the sun's out and the streets are full of pretty ladies, a young man needs wood, trucks and wheels beneath his feet if he wants to look a champ. Unfortunately, learning to skate can be a scabby pain in the knees for newbies. It took Tony Hawk 23 years – from when he started skating aged eight, to the 1999 X Games – to achieve his legendary 900 trick. Obviously, you don't have time to tit around for 23 years, so here are some tips to get you skating as good as ol' Tone in crazy-quick time...

Walk to the top of the steepest road in town, masking-tape your skateboard to your feet, then push off and zoom down that tarmac like a terrified, screaming rocket. This is the traditional skateboarding equivalent of flinging a baby into a pool in order to make it swim. It never goes wrong.

Just as the best martial artists yell out their moves as they go ("Spinning roundhouse!") and so forth), the best skateboarders shout out their tricks. Always announce your manoeuvres, but start small: "Turning left!" and so on.

Don't be intimidated by the competitive, macho atmosphere at your local skate-park. Simply stand on the sidelines and berate fellow skaters with confident statements like, "What are you, a spazmo?" and you'll be making pals in no time.

If you're finding the likes of nollies and manuals too damn hard, don't be afraid to make your own tricks up. For example, you could stick your deck up under your T-shirt and call that a '180 sports-bra', or jam a wheel between your buttocks and call it a 'prison shower surprise'.

THROW THE ULTIMATE BBQ PARTY!

Nothing says OMG BFF LMFAO like a rad BBQ party. Britons hold around 60 million barbies a year, and most of them are heavily dogshit. Make sure your own BBQ is of the Best Bloomin' Quality with FRONT's 'grilliant' tips!

Give your BBQ a sexy vibe and, fingers crossed, it'll eventually degenerate into an orgy! Try carving bellends into your sausages, or sticking little cut-out circles of bacon on top of your burger baps so they look like ladytits.

Impress the ladies by juggling with scalding-hot charcoal, jamming a kebab skewer up your shnozz and daringly eating a pink-in-the-middle chicken burger.

Keep a big bucket of petrol and a mighty box of illegal Chinese fireworks to hand. If your party starts to lag, simply chuck both on the BBQ flames without attracting attention, and things will liven right up almost immediately.

Prepare a memorable dessert to dazzle your guests with: buy 45 Feast lollies and bodge them together into one giant Feast, using a broomstick as the lolly-stick. Tell everyone present that it's called a Feeeeeaaaaasst, and make them all eat it out of a rusty old trough. Make piggy oinking noises while they're all hunched over, gobbling away. Maybe kick some of them in the arse for good measure.

Gilbey

5 FORM THE BEST BAND EVER!

Being in an ultra-rockin', non-stoppin', coke-choppin' band is one of the very best ways to maximise your summertime chuckle-fun.

Not only do you get to play festivals, kiss ladies and par-tay 24 hours a day, you also get to stop showering and eat loads of Ginsters.

GUITARIST WANTED!

Think big, man! When you're advertising for band members on Craigslist, don't just say "Bass player required" – be selective! Say: "Bass player/xylophonist/magician required. Must have own flamethrower and be willing to smuggle heroin and butterfly knives up ringpiece." Now you're rockin'...

Keep it real!

The best musicians write from the heart, about personal experiences that have affected them. So maybe you could pen a song about the time you overheard your parents 69-ing, or the fact that you prefer Kit Kats that have been in the fridge for a bit.

STAY IN CHARGE

'Musical differences' will split a group up quicker than Yoko Ono, so put your foot down at the first sign of bandmates questioning your vision. If needs be, shoot the most rebellious one and then constantly wear his nose as a brooch to remind the others who's fuckin' boss round here.

Stay ahead of the game!

Get in on the early days of a soon-to-be-huge scene and you can grab glory when it blows up. You just need to figure out what the next emo or electropop is. Our tips? Keep an eye on the dental metal and gay Scottish reggae scenes – they're soooo hot.

6 DO A FESTIVAL FOR FREE!

A 2009 survey found that the average festival-goer chonks around £600 on their weekend of booze, music and pissing against fences. Spunked all your summer cash away on scratchcards and cooking sherry? No worries, you can still get your festival on – without spending diddy squat!

Cover yourself in a white sheet and peg it at the ticket turnstiles whilst going "Woo-oohh!" a lot. Security will assume that you're The Ghost Of Festivals Past and let you straight through.

Police often try and catch thieves by erecting 'bait' tents that feature cash, clothes, iPods etc in full view. Burgle one of these, and when the police move in to arrest you, simply kick them in the legs and flee.

You don't need cash to get wanked: stick your head through the seat-hole in a Portaloo and inhale deeply for as long as you can – you'll get really high for about six hours. Honest!

No food? Find a lost child, smother it, eat it.

TEST YOUR SUMMER SKILLZ

RECKON YOU'RE DADDY COOL-TITS WHEN IT COMES TO THIS WINNING-AT-SUMMER LARK? THEN TEST YOUR SUN-TANNIN', BEER-GARDENIN' SKILLS, CHUMP...

1 YOU CAN HEAR THE ICE-CREAM VAN MUSIC PLAYING OUTSIDE, BUT YOU'VE JUST COMMENCED A SIT-DOWN TOILET BUSINESS. DO YOU...

- A) Immediately peg it into the street with your kecks around your ankles and an interrupted doodah peeping out from betwixt your mudflaps?
- B) Scream "99 with Flake and sauce! 99 with Flake and sauce!" over and over again until a kind local child brings one to your bathroom door?
- C) Wash your slop and then order a massive, sauced hot chocolate and get under your fleecy blanket heater - brrrr - (it's a scorcher, really for ice cream?)

2 YOU'RE IN THE LOCAL PARK, ENJOYING A ROMANTIC ROW ON THE BOATING LAKE WITH A SPECIAL LADYFRIEND, WHEN A CHILD ON A PASSING BOAT FALLS IN. SPLASH! DO YOU...

- A) Whack the poor little mite over the head with a paddle, so as to hasten his drowning and lessen his terror?
- B) Impress your ladyfriend no end by leaping into the water, throwing the child to safety and then drowning like Jack at the end of Titanic?
- C) Leave the child alone, he'll be fine, the lake's frozen anyway so he'll simply slide about like a curling stone at the Winter Olympics?

3 IT'S SATURDAY AFTERNOON. ARE YOU...

- A) Lying on the roof, covered in foil and butter, arching your back so as get the maximum amount of roaring, oppressive sun-heat?
- B) Bating a Cornetto, drinking squash, writing a saucy postcard and listening to Bob Marley on a deck chair in Tenerife while watching the World Cup and cooling yourself off with a palm-tree-shaped fan made of ice?
- C) Frantically racing around Toys R Us, elbowing people out the way as you search for the last remaining Iggle Piggle doll for your nephew?

4 YOU'VE GOT YOUR FAVOURITE OUTFIT ON. IS IT...

- A) Nothing more than a greasy lathering of factor 25 and a tansteroid hand-on?
- B) Nasty flip-flops, shorts made of coconut shells and a T-shirt featuring a picture of a grinning sun with dreadlocks saying "Yeeeah mon!"?
- C) Two coats, three hats, twelve layers of fleece, thermal undergarms and the same sort of boots that astronauts wear?

MOSTLY
As

You've certainly got some strong summer skills, but you're being far too overeager - like a dancing, twirling, elderly pranny on Britain's Got Talent.

MOSTLY Bs

You are the reigning king of summer. You're a black belt in summer-fu. You're Summerzilla. If you cut yourself, you bleed melted Calippo. High fives!

MOSTLY
Cs

You've mistaken summer for Christmas, because you have a brain tumour and it's pressing on the lobe that differentiates between seasons.

SUMMER
TIP #2

GET PROPER SOAKING WET...

FAYE: "Any good summer party needs to end up with everyone soaked to the skin and dripping wet. We once built a makeshift waterslide out of bin liners and washing-up liquid. That was fun."

SEREN: "You need a sprinkler, hosepipes and water bombs. It doesn't matter if it's not too sunny – I've been skinny dipping in the Welsh sea in October before, so I'm used to it."

MELLISA: "I've been known to engage in many a brutal water fight with my girl mates before – it always turns pretty messy, depending on how frisky everyone is."

SUMMER
TIP #3

MAKE SOME SEXY FRIENDS...

FAYE: "Me and my best girlfriends are going to Ibiza Rocks this year, so I'm sure we'll meet loads of new people over there. Also, running half-naked through a sprinkler with someone seems to bring you closer together."

SEREN: "On this shoot I gave Mellisa a naked piggy-back, so that's one good way to get to know someone."

ALIY: "I'm pretty lucky, cos one of my best friends has a swimming pool, so we've spent many summers getting drunk and nearly dying at some point. You could always take over your local council pool, though..."

“Sometimes me and my mates steal each other's clothes and hide them in the trees”

Faye

SUMMER
TIP #4

STAY OUT OF THE SHADE...

SEREN: "We hardly ever get any sun in this country, so make the most of it. Even if you don't have a garden, steal someone else's!"

FAYE: "I don't really stay in the shade. I like staying in the sun. As the sun moves, I just move where I'm laying."

ALLY: "There's no point in being cold. Plus, the warm weather means girls can wear way sexier outfits without freezing their boobs off."

WEAR LOOSE- FITTING THREADS...

SUMMER
TIP #5

FAYE: "I tend to not wear many clothes in the summer if I can get away with it. You never know when a summer party might turn into a water fight, so wear something that comes off easily."

MELISSA: "I say wear nothing at all. Getting naked is one awesome way to kick off a party. Just hope that your neighbour isn't some sort of perv..."

SUMMER
TIP #6

SPLASH OUT ON A COOL NEW TEE...

JODIE: "Summer's the best time of year to try out new styles, I guess, so I say don't be afraid to splash out on something new."

FAYE: "I always end up wearing guys' T-shirts cos they tend to feel more comfy. Plus, they always look pretty damn good on a girl when they're a bit wet."

SEREN: "T-shirts always look way sexier when they're soaking wet - just make sure you've got something on underneath if you're a girl. Or maybe not. Depends what sort of party it is..."

SUMMER
TIP #7

BE AT ONE WITH NATURE...

SEREN: "I'm definitely a nature girl. I've climbed loads of trees and shit before. I prefer being naked in natural environments - I think I'm a bit of a naturist at heart."

FAYE: "I've actually been to a nudey beach before, but it was more by accident than anything else. Honest. I didn't get involved - maybe next time..."

MELLISA: "Festivals are a good opportunity to get back to basics. Everyone just gets really drunk and loses their inhibitions."

KEEP ACTIVE...

FAYE: "In summer, I think you should party as much as you can, wherever you can. Keep busy and go to tons of festivals."

SEREN: "I'm going travelling through America and Mexico this year, so that's going to rock. I wish I was going to some more festivals, though."

MELLISA: "I'm definitely going to Reading this year, and I'm mega-excited about seeing Blink-182. That, and I can't wait to just get really drunk and end up on the waltzers."

SUMMER
TIP #8

DRINK PLENTY OF FLUIDS...

FAYE: "We usually get a big cocktail bowl and pour whatever we can find into it. Bang in a load of Sailor Jerry's or Pimm's. There needs to be some sort of soft drink, but go for more alcohol than juice."

MELISSA: "For me, it's all about the cider. A big, cheap-ass bottle of unbranded cider in the garden and I'm one happy bunny!"

SEREN: "It's fun and pretty sexy to get someone to squirt wine into your mouth with a water pistol. They should invent sprinklers and hosepipes that fire cider."

THE NEW ROCK & ROLL

SUMMER

FORGET STARTING A BAND AND WRITING AN EPIC ROCK BALLAD – THE BEST WAY TO END UP KNEE-DEEP IN SEXY GROUPIES IS BY DESIGNING YOUR OWN T-SHIRTS AND RULING THE WORLD

EVER SINCE THE scummy days of punk and the iconic Ramones and Misfits designs, T-shirts and music have been bezzie mates. Up until the last couple of years, though, tees were always a sideline to give drunk kids something clean to wear on the way home from a super-sweaty gig.

Then something changed. Bands found they were raking in more cash from their merch than record sales, and spotty kids, knocking up T-shirts in stinky garages, started being treated like sex-god rock-stars. Now everyone wants in on the tee revolution, and FRONT is here to help with our guide to the best threads for the summer and advice on how you – yes, you, numbnuts – can become the next T-shirt king. You'll soon have so much cash, you'll be using banknotes to polish your pet elephant's dick.

MATT BARNES

YOU ME AT SIX/CHEER UP CLOTHING

YOU'RE IN A BAND, MATT.

WHY DID YOU START A LABEL?

Me and my friend Ed were down the pub, and he just said, "Why don't we start a clothing line?" and it went from there.

WHAT BRANDS DO YOU TAKE INSPIRATION FROM?

Obviously, you have Glamour Kills and Drop Dead. They just kill it on the fashion front.

DO YOU SECRETLY WANT TO KILL OLI SYKES IN THE FACE?

Not at all. Drop Dead are literally the biggest thing ever. He's absolutely smashing it at the moment.

WHAT'S YER FAVE BAND TEE?

You always see the same Iron Maiden ones around. Even highstreet shops printed their shirts at one point. That was weird. The fact it still sells is crazy. We should get an army of people all wearing the same shirts at our gigs, then I could be as iconic as Maiden.

£20, from cheerupclothing.com

FYI

Matt's bandmate Josh Franceschi also runs a clothing label, Down But Not Out. Other dudes in bands with labels include Matt Helders from Arctic Monkeys, and Eva Spence from Rolo Tomassi.

U.S. ARTIST JEFF FINLAY HAS DESIGNED TEES FOR METALLICA AND BULLET FOR MY VALENTINE.

WHAT'S SO GOOD ABOUT BAND TEES, JEFF?

"They're an iconic representation of the culture. It's how fans embrace their inspirations and identify with fellow fans. As long as there are metalheads, there will be metal tees. They're cheap and they go with just about everything else in your wardrobe"

Q&A

MISHKA: KING OF TEES

CO-OWNER MIKHAIL BORTNIK AND DESIGNER MIKE JONES

KNOWN FOR THEIR INSANE DESIGNS AND SLAMMIN' LOGOS, NEW YORK CITY TEE LEGENDS MISHKA ARE THE COMPANY THAT THE NEW BREED OF DIY CROWD ARE BUSTING THEIR BALLS TO BE LIKE. THIS IS HOW THEY DO IT...

HOW DID IT ALL KICK OFF FOR YOU GUYS?

MB: I'd always wanted to do it, so I just went for it. Mike Jones was our first intern back in 2005.

WHAT'S SO GREAT ABOUT DESIGNING TEES?

MJ: There's a lot of flexibility. People are a little more willing to accept something crazy on a T-shirt than on any other bit of clothing.

D'YOU RECKON IT'S SWEET THAT LOADS OF KIDS ARE STARTING LABELS?

MB: Yeah – we were one of those brands that did it. Kids are hungry to do something and be creative. Either they're inspired to do something or they feel that there's a void out there that they want to fill. Some are going to be good at it, some aren't. All it does is push everybody to get better at it.

SO T-SHIRTS ARE AN ACE WAY FOR PEOPLE TO EXPRESS THEMSELVES, THEN?

MB: I've

always felt T-shirts are a great platform for artists. It exposes them to tons of people. It's definitely a great canvas, and lots of guys have made careers out of doing band shirts and more.

WHAT'S THE CONNECTION BETWEEN THE POPULARITY OF METAL BAND T-SHIRTS AND BRAND TEES IN THE STREET WEAR SCENE?

MJ: Well, wearing a shirt that says 'Mishka' is the same wearing as a shirt that says 'Metallica' real huge on it – there's a value associated with it. People want to show other people, "Hey, I'm into this."

FYI Mishka have their own 'tattoo club' made up of fans across the world who've got the iconic 'Keep Watch' eyeball tattooed on them

ILLUSTRATION MAVERICK

BEN NORMANTON, DROP DEAD

T-SHIRTS TODAY AREN'T WORTH POOP WITHOUT RIDICULOUSLY SKILLED DOODLES ON THEM. DROP DEAD'S HEAD DESIGNER TELLS US A BIT ABOUT HOW HE DOES IT

HOW DID YOU START OUT AS AN ILLUSTRATOR?

Back when MySpace was getting really big, I used to post up my drawings. I used to give bands cards and stickers to take out on tour with the MySpace address on. That seemed to work pretty well.

HAVE YOU ALWAYS DESIGNED FOR T-SHIRTS?

I started doing flyers for DIY shows, just for free entry or a shirt or something. That worked as a good way to get in touch with bands, too.

WHERE THE FUCK DO YOU GET YOUR LOOPY IDEAS FROM, LIKE?

I went to China recently and bought a massive

Charlie Brown toy. I also saw chicken heads on skewers, and really small sharks. I think it's hard not to find inspiration with all the crazy stuff you can see or find out about.

ARE THERE ANY DESIGNS YOU ARE WELL PROUD OF?

My drawings are kind of funny, really. I like the ones that make me laugh, like the rabbit design for Drop Dead, and the ant burner.

RODNEY CLARKE

ETNIES TEAM RIDER

WHAT'S THE WORST THING YOU'VE EVER SPILLED ON YOUR T-SHIRT?

One time, I got battery acid down one while faffing around with my car and wiping my hands on my T-shirt. A day or so later my tee started to fall apart and I ended up with some pretty nasty lesions on my skin.

WHAT'S THE WORST THING YOU EVER MOPPED UP WITH ONE?

Blood, definitely. I was skating a set of stairs this time and cut my head open pretty bad. I used my T-shirt to mop up the blood and then tied it round my head as a bandage.

ARE YOU COOL OR A BLOODY FOOL? PSYCHOLOGIST DR GARY MACPHERSON AND FRONT ANALYSE YOUR THREADS...

'SAME SHIT, DIFFERENT DAY'

FRONT SAYS: "You're on a slippery slope to a breakdown. It starts off with a cynical T-shirt, and ends with you wanking at people in the street before police Taser you to the ground."
DR GARY SAYS: "I'd question whether this person's head is half empty or half full."

TRENDY LARGE-PRINT YOOF TEE

FRONT SAYS: "You're YOUNG and MENTAL and you don't care WHO knows it. Or, you're a paedophile who's done research into what those sexy kids wear."
DR GARY SAYS: "A blissful state of mind in the eternal present, as long as they have regular access to hair products."

CLASSIC METAL BAND TEE

FRONT SAYS: "You're either a genuine fan, or you're a closet Kooks fan latching on to metal's current trendiness."
DR GARY SAYS: "Probably feels threatened by the present. Or they are developing an unhealthy interest in Satanism or the occult."

WHITE TEE WITH BEAN-STAINS

FRONT SAYS: "You buy your clothes at Primark and eat out of tins. Or, you look like Robert Pattinson, and girls would still lunge fanny-first at you if you wore a cloak made of arse-hairs."
DR GARY SAYS: "Are they going out for the night or just coming in?"

TIE-DYE HIPPIE TRIPPYNESS

FRONT SAYS: "You're into smoking buckets, listening to The Doors and acting like you're tripping on acid, and you've found the perfect tee to reflect your '1960s bellend' persona."
DR GARY SAYS: "Fashion inspired by substance misuse, and a desire to share these with others."

COLLAB CULTURE

GREAT THINGS CAN HAPPEN WHEN WE WORK TOGETHER...

NASH MONEY'S NEW TEE SHOWS WHY COLLABS RULE, AND HE EXPLAINS WHY IT'S ALL SO VITAL TO THE TEE SCENE...

"It's an integral part of today's industry – it demonstrates an affiliation between brands and artists, and acts as a connection between fan bases.

"The best reason for doing a collaboration is probably the one you can apply to the collab I've done with Second Son. I've known them for years – they make cool stuff, and they party hard. We're good friends – we do loads of crazy shoots and have watched and followed each other grow in tandem."

FRONT'S COLLABS OF THE FUTURE

NIKE X BELLADONNA

MINTY X STÜSSY

WHAT WEIRD THINGS DO YOU DO WITH YOUR BAND TEES?

"We have this XXL tee that we can't shift at our gigs. It gets used as a sweat towel, and chucked into the crowd. Thankfully, it always gets chucked back. I guess there isn't much use for a tee that big and with hundreds of kids' sweat on it!"

HOW TO MAKE YOUR T-SHIRT MILLIONS

GO FROM BEDROOM DOODLER TO MEGA-BUCKS FASHION KING IN SIX SIMPLE STEPS

1 GET AN IDEA

WILL KEMP, SECOND SON

"Our ideas mainly come from whatever we're obsessed with at the time, whether that's dinosaurs, polygons or girls with machine guns. We come up with stuff that we like or that amuses us, then filter out all the ideas that no one else will find funny and print the rest. I think we just try to make stuff that we ourselves like, and hope that enough people share our taste to make it worthwhile."

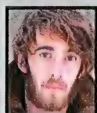

3 MAKE IT A BUSINESS

TIM HOAD, KING APPAREL

"It's tons of hard work and long hours and there will be short-term social and financial sacrifices, guaranteed. You'll need to get a good business plan. This will help you secure extra funding, like overdrafts, and keep you focused. Your brand will most likely have a logo or set of logos – you'll need to get these trademarked to protect your work and ensure no one has done anything similar before. You'll also want to set up a website to engage your customers. This is the face of your brand, so make sure it looks sick. Keep it simple to view, easy to navigate and interesting."

2 DESIGN THE BASTARD AND GET IT MADE

KEATON HENSON, ILLUSTRATION GOD

"Start with thinking about the whole composition, not just the design. You should always think about picturing your design on a person. Designs can look completely different when printed up and worn, so it's worth thinking about the shape and style of your design."

"Spend some time thinking about the shirts you use and the methods of printing. I don't think people pay enough attention to the printing process – finding the right printers is a bit of a lost art. At the moment, people seem to go for American Apparel. I think the fact that their T-shirts sell on their own is a good sign."

4 GET YOUR NAME OUT THERE

SEAN REVERON, ROCKERS NYC

"When we started to taste success, we always stuck to our original vision. It's about your designs communicating with the world. We started this brand to share our life experiences and our vision for society, so we have always had a message of punk rock, anti-racism and anarchy behind our designs. Even though we may change with the industry, we keep the same messages at the core, and that's as important as anything you sell."

5 SELL YOUR SHIT

ROUTE ONE CLOTHING

"Getting someone to wear your T-shirts is hugely important. If the right person is seen wearing your tees, they'll fly off the shelves. Having some sort of originality behind your brand will also make a massive difference. Something with a good story or some history will help to make your brand stand out from the rest."

6 MAKE YER MILLIONS

PAUL GRIFFITHS, BABYCAKES

"You've just gotta do something next level and make sure you always do better than what you have done before. If you have a successful online store, don't just settle at that: open a retail shop, then when that's proper buzzin', open another. There are so many people making shirts now and hoping to be the next big thing, you've got to do something mega-original to stand out. All of the other stages before are just as important – you gotta sell clothes to keep making clothes."

THE MCLEAN BROTHERS

R'N'B MAN MCLEAN
AND HIS FOOTBALLER
BROTHER AARON INVITE FRONT TO INSPECT THEIR PETERBOROUGH PAD...

CDs

AARON: "Our dad was a musician: he used to sing reggae and did really well when he was in Lovers Rock. I wouldn't mind being in one of my brother's videos, but I think that's about as far as it'd go. [Laughs] I won't be singing on any tracks."

SOCCER AM BALL

MCLEAN: "I think they gave me a ball because I was a musician, so I could take it on tour with me to play with the band, or whatever. Being on Soccer AM was a laugh – I was on there with my brother, David Haye and Craig David. I think they expected me to have some skills, but I clearly didn't have any. I didn't do well on the challenge – it was embarrassing. I know my limits..."

AARON CURRENTLY plays centre forward for Peterborough United and bagged 33 goals during their promotion season to the Championship. They've been relegated back to League One this year, but he'll probably get bought by someone and not go down with them because he's really good, like.

CONSOLES

MCLEAN: "I'm addicted. My brother likes the PlayStation and, basically, he's rubbish on Xbox. That's his excuse, but I can beat him on anything. I'm better at football games than I am football in real life. I'm on Batman: Arkham Asylum at the moment – I've completed it about six times, but I just can't stop playing it."

AARON: "I'm not good on Xbox at all. PlayStation is my domain, though – he just can't beat me. I'm a Call Of Duty man. All the lads are on Xbox Live – there's a squad of us, but we play against anyone. The lads who play for Wolves, Rushden And Diamonds, it doesn't matter who... I've got friends I've played with who are at all different clubs now, so we get games going."

DVDs

AARON: "I'm into action films, but my favourite film is Any Given Sunday. I never get bored of it. I don't think I'm strong enough to play American football – they get hit quite hard. [Laughs] There are things I can take from this film as a sportsman, though. Al Pacino's speech before they go out in the final is inspirational."

DOG TAGS

McLEAN: "These are official McLean dog tags that I wear in my new video, Finally In Love. I try and get as much stuff as I can from video shoots – I'd walk off with everything if I could get away with it, but I don't manage to that much. Anything I can grab, I'm having!"

LIGHTSABERS

McLEAN: "I love Star Wars – I've been a fan of it since I was a kid. These are the proper ones that light up and make the noises. A producer friend of mine's got the double-ended Darth Maul one. They're not good for fighting cos they're made of glass, but I've got two and I'm tempted, y'know..."

TWENTY-NINE-YEAR-OLD crooner McLean released his promo single Broken in October last year, which notched up over 20 million plays online. Since then his last single, My Name, gatecrashed the top ten and his next track, Finally In Love, is out 14 June and will probably be massive, too.

ADIDAS

AARON: "Trainers are definitely my thing. No matter where we go, I'm always looking for trainers. I'll buy three or four pairs a month at least. Adidas are the most comfortable trainers. I like the look of them – you can dress them up or just be casual. Do I wear Adidas football boots? Not right now – I'm a Nike man."

LAPTOP

McLEAN: "I use it for everything, really. I put my music on there, play my songs to write to, get on the internet... It's practically attached to me. I love talking to my fans on it. I've got Twitter on my phone, too, so I'm never without it."

GOLDEN BOOT

AARON: "The season I got this was unbelievable. It was my first full year in League football, we had a really good team and managed to get promoted. I felt good and managed to stay fit all season, which is brilliant for me. As the season progressed and I was top of the scoring charts, it was just a case of keeping the confidence. Luckily for me, I managed to keep it all season. The balls are my hat-trick balls from against Brentford and Accrington. All the lads signed them as congratulations."

RED TEAR

"I wasn't intending on getting my face tattooed at all, but my friend told me to get a dollar sign as a bit of a joke. I probably should've got a pound sign instead, though. The red tear was done when I left Trigger. The Bloodshed a few years ago. I wanted something to represent my time in that band."

NECK PIECE

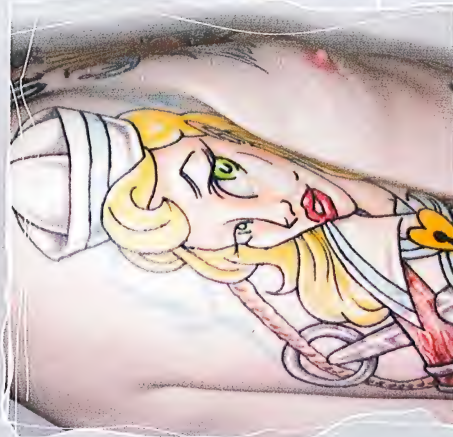

"This was a long one. Both the sides of my neck were done, and I needed a big piece to fill the gap. I kept having it re-done as the ink was falling out. But my tattooist is ace - the colours stay really vibrant for ages. My skin takes them really well."

TAKES A LICKING

"The text through the heart reads 'Takes a lickin'', which is part of the phrase 'The heart takes a licking, but keeps on ticking.' I had to keep it symmetrical because I don't like feeling off-balance. If I get something one side, I need to have it on the other to even it out. I hate having unfinished pieces, too - it winds me up."

KEY

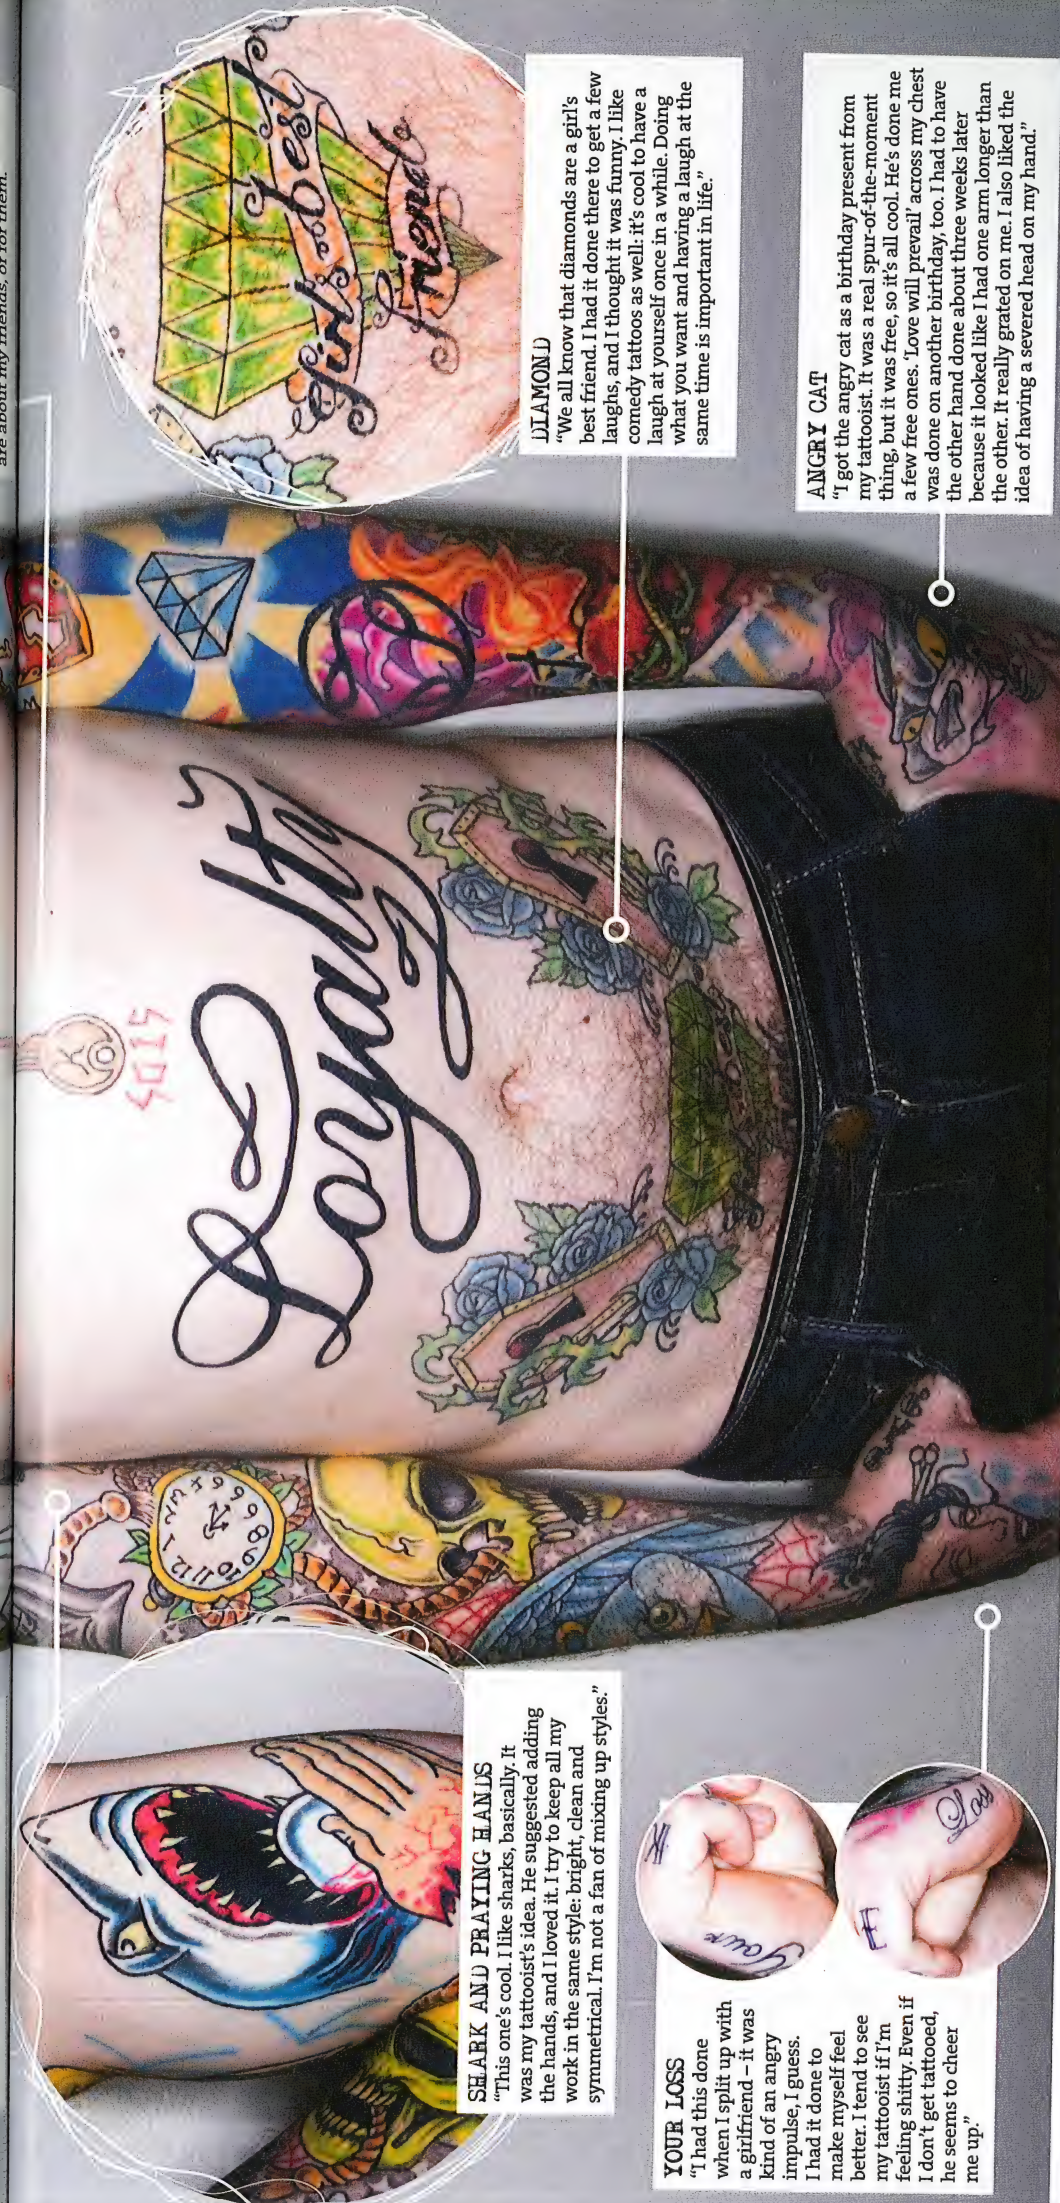

"This is the postcode of a friend's house, and the outline of her front door key. We had so many good times at her place, but she had to move out. A lot of my tattoos are about my friends, or for them."

SAILOR GIRL

"Anchors and sailors look cool, and I've always wanted a pretty girl tattooed on me. I love the colour. I've never been into black-and-white tattoos - I'm a loud and outgoing person, and I like my tattoos to reflect that."

SEAL AND PRAYING HANDS

"This one's cool. I like sharks, basically. It was my tattooist's idea. He suggested adding the hands, and I loved it. I try to keep all my work in the same style: bright, clean and symmetrical. I'm not a fan of mixing up styles."

YOUR LOSS

"I had this done when I split up with a girlfriend – it was kind of an angry impulse, I guess. I had it done to make myself feel better. I tend to see my tattooist if I'm feeling shitty. Even if I don't get tattooed, he seems to cheer me up."

DIAMOND

"We all know that diamonds are a girl's best friend. I had it done there to get a few laughs, and I thought it was funny. I like comedy tattoos as well: it's cool to have a laugh at yourself once in a while. Doing what you want and having a laugh at the same time is important in life."

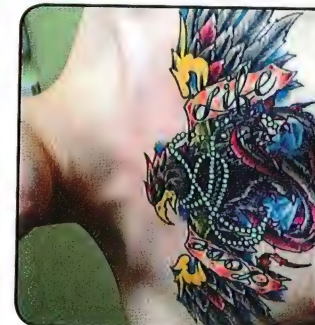

ANGRY CAT

"I got the angry cat as a birthday present from my tattooist. It was a real spur-of-the-moment thing, but it was free, so it's all cool. He's done me a few free ones. 'Love will prevail' across my chest was done on another birthday, too. I had to have the other hand done about three weeks later because it looked like I had one arm longer than the other. It really grated on me. I also liked the idea of having a severed head on my hand."

SHE DOESN'T BEAT AROUND THE BUSH UNLESS SHE'S HAD A FEW PINTS AND FEELS A BIT PLAYFUL

WHERE'S MY MATE GONE?

Since my mate has been going out with his girlfriend, I've seen less and less of him. How do I get rid of her so I can get my best mate back for nights out on the piss?

Chris, via e-mail

This problem always seems to arise, Chris – for some reason, we women-folk have an unintentional vice-like grip around the penises and minds of our male friends. Honestly, it's not your friend's fault – he probably doesn't even know he's being a bit of a douche. Simply work a bit further in advance – get him to commit to that night in the pub earlier in the week, rather than phoning him up an hour before your thirst strikes. Either that, or try plucking your eyebrows, shaving your legs, donning a dress and seducing your mate. He'll be sure to ditch the lady for a fine young filly like yourself, leaving you two to run hand-in-hand into a night of frantic bumming. Be honest, Chris: that's what you really want, isn't it?

SHE'S HORRIBLY BRILLIANT

My neighbour is a skanky chav but I keep dreaming about banging her. It's getting to the point where I don't want to go to sleep. How do I get this out of my system? Please help.

Steve G, via e-mail

Me too, Steve – not the boning my neighbour part, but the being partial to chav scum bit. I'm always trying to stop the urge, but I'm a great believer in trying everything once. So, pull down those Kappa trousers and do the business. If you really can't get over it, then how about trying to get it out some other way? Asphyxiwanking over an EastEnders omnibus? Helped me.

WEE WEE WOES

I can't find a hot sexy woman to piss on me, Von. Please help.

Gary, via e-mail

Piss play: always a subject to approach with caution! There are

LOOSE WOMEN LONGING

Is it wrong that I like to wank thinking about the cast of Loose Women, and Carol McGiffin in particular?

Bryan S, via e-mail

There's nothing right about this at all, Bryan – I can't imagine how you could even get hard, let alone go through with a full-on wank. And I've wanked over some weird shit. I've even recently got into wanking with taxidermy – like, actually rubbing my dead furry friends all over myself until I explode all over them. This is just one step too far, though, y'big freak.

Von's NAUGHTY DOs & DON'Ts

#12 TENT SEX

It's coming up to festival season, and getting tent sex right is an important part of good festival etiquette. It's incredibly easy to get it wrong, especially if you're wasted, really massive or scared of tents/girls. DO MAKE SURE THE GROUND SHEET IS DOWN, as the grass isn't the thing we girls want to be making us wet in the morning. DO REMEMBER TO TURN THE LIGHT OFF, unless you want to provide a shadow-puppet-like sex show for all the other campers, which would probably lead to some stray cocks being shoved through the entrance.

DON'T PISS IN A BOTTLE and leave it there – I did this once, and it was very AIDS – and DON'T TRY ANY AMBITIOUS POSITIONS like the wheelbarrow, as you'll be tentless in no time. Happy camping!

● According to Maiden folklore, Eddie was won by bassist Steve Harris in a card game with the devil, and is always trying to smash the band up so he can escape.

● Eddie creator Derek Riggs made the character after seeing something similar in a documentary about the Japanese in the Second World War. Maiden adopted him when searching for artwork for their first album.

● To date, six artists have designed an Eddie for Maiden covers.

● Eddie's not just famed for his cover appearances – he's got his own computer game and a range of action figures, he crops up in Grand Theft Auto games and South Park, and he even adorned the helmet of ice hockey goalie Roman Turek throughout his career.

LOST PLANET 2

360/PS3/PC

IF WATCHING Starship Troopers gives you a semi and you often find yourself wishing that gigantic arachnids really did exist so you could shoot their bastard arms and legs off, then have we got some good news for you – Lost Planet 2 has only gone and hit the shops, hasn't it?

And this time it returns with more big monsters than you can shake a stick – or even a very large Gatling gun – at. Set ten years after the first Lost Planet, the normally formidably icy planet of EDN III has sprouted bits of jungle, and even desert, which are all rendered in such loving computer spaffery detail that if you cross your eyes a bit you'll feel like you are in a real movie. We're talking to you, Starship Bonerboy.

This time around, there's a massive push towards co-op play, with split-screen features and the option to play with any combination of friends/strangers/AI. The chapters themselves are purposely small so it's not too much hassle to gang together with your pals to play it. Familiar gameplay elements from the first game remain, like the B-bashing data posts and the Batman-style grapple hook action, and the Akrids are even massiver and tougher to kill than ever.

360/PS3/PC

If one thing can be said of this, it's that it's a late-night mate game – something to play the shit out of with your pals when you stumble in at 3am, kebab in hand, and want to pwn your friends into submission in some way that doesn't involve farts. It's so insanely fun that every time you play it, one of the Insane Clown Posse dies.

This fun is mostly down to its split-screen multiplayer mode, which will have you harking back to games like Wipeout and Rollcage with its sheer addictive competitiveness. It's a bit like Mario Kart with real cars, in that you go round racing your pals collecting power-ups to mess with their shit and leave you as the champion, complete with kebab helmet.

EVERYBODY LOVES SKATE – it has that Sunday afternoon 'I'm just gonna bowl around town on my skateboard' vibe to it which makes you think you're outside doing something when you're not. Key to the third instalment of the very popular franchise? Customisability. You can design logos, put props like bike racks and benches wherever you want in the open world, and you can build your own skate-park. There's also more emphasis on co-op play than ever before, and while the graphics are a little more Disney-fied and colourful, it doesn't take away from the game too much.

FOALS

TOTAL LIFE FOREVER

MOST HYPED NEW BANDS

spectacularly fail to live up to all the sweaty-handed expectations laid upon them, and eventually leave you wondering what the hell everyone was getting all het up about. For example: does anyone reeeally still listen to the Klaxons' album? Can you even remember what White Lies sound or look like? Would anybody care if Glasvegas all died tomorrow in a freak onionchopping accident?

Foals, however, might've arrived in a blur of overegged hypery – NME covers and jourmos calling them "The planet's best new band!" before they'd even released a single – but they had the tunes to back up the brouhaha, and their debut album, Antidotes, was a killer mix of dancey riddims and wonky maths-pop. Now the sequel is here, and it's the same standard of aceness, only with added chunky-ass drums and a whiff of Vampire Weekend's sunshiney bounciness. Supajoy!

METAL SOULFLY OMEN

BRAZILIAN DREAD-HEAD Max Cavalera is a mothertouchin' metal legend, with 25 years under his studded belt working at the gnarly end of the riffs-and-roaring game—first with Sepultura, then with Nailbomb, Cavalera Conspiracy and Soulfly. His trademark trick is to crossbreed metal with horse-punching tribal rhythms, but for this seventh Soulfly album he's gone instead for that trendy-right-now thrash sound. We like the new jagga-da-jaggas, although we sorta miss the old ka-chunka-da-chunkas.

CRIME THRILLER

STARRING: EMMA ROBERTS

FROM FILM-MAKING whiz-balls Noel Clarke comes this sexy little criminal-caper flick about a gang of girl wrong'uns and a big ol' diamond heist.

Anyone familiar with Clarke's writings and such will know that his films are normally pretty fucking slick. His cracking gang ditty Kidulthood went on to be a bit of a cult job, and the sequel Adulthood weren't half bad, either. Armed with that, and a cheeky Rising Star Bafta under his arm, Noel's latest offering is 4.3.2.1, and it's proper worth checking out.

The plot's a tad confusing, mainly due to it being shot in a bit of a wacky back-to-front styley (seriously, don't watch it pissed), but there are enough robbingz, shootingz and a surprising amount of lezzings-up to keep you one stimulated bugger.

STARRING: MARC WOOTTON

SURELY AMERICANS must see spoofy shenanigans like this coming a mile off by now? After yer Borats and yer Keith Lemons, you'd have thought they'd be sick of pesky Brits coming over and mocking the tits offa them.

We were a bit worried, then, that the mega-funny Marc Wootton would fall flat on his chunky ass in this, the latest attempt to test America's patience/sanity with a bunch of his own twisted creations. The boy done good, though, and his spoofing ditty is a proper hoot of a watch.

The show's just finished a run on BBC3 where it got mixed reviews, but it poked us in all the right places – purely because Marc is so spot-on at pretending to be other, shittier people. Basically, he takes three proper irritating dickweeds over to the US of A and passes them off as real peoples. From there onwards, it's pretty much him playing the silly bugger non-stop, complete with wad-loads of inappropriate humour and awkward encounters with the unwitting Yank-folk. We likey.

RESURRECTING THE STREET WALKER

STARRING: JAMES POWELL

THREE THINGS you shouldn't do before you go to bed: eat cheese, spread jam on your buttocks, or watch this film. It's proper fucked up, y'see.

We weren't quite sure what the frig was supposed to be going on at first, but it turned out to be a bizarre documentary-style flick about a young director who sets about trying to complete an unfinished horror film he stumbles upon. Unfortunately, there's also a horrendously gruesome curse attached to it. Bloody typical, that.

Watch it if you like your horror to be well on the disturbing side, otherwise go and buy a lovely cat instead.

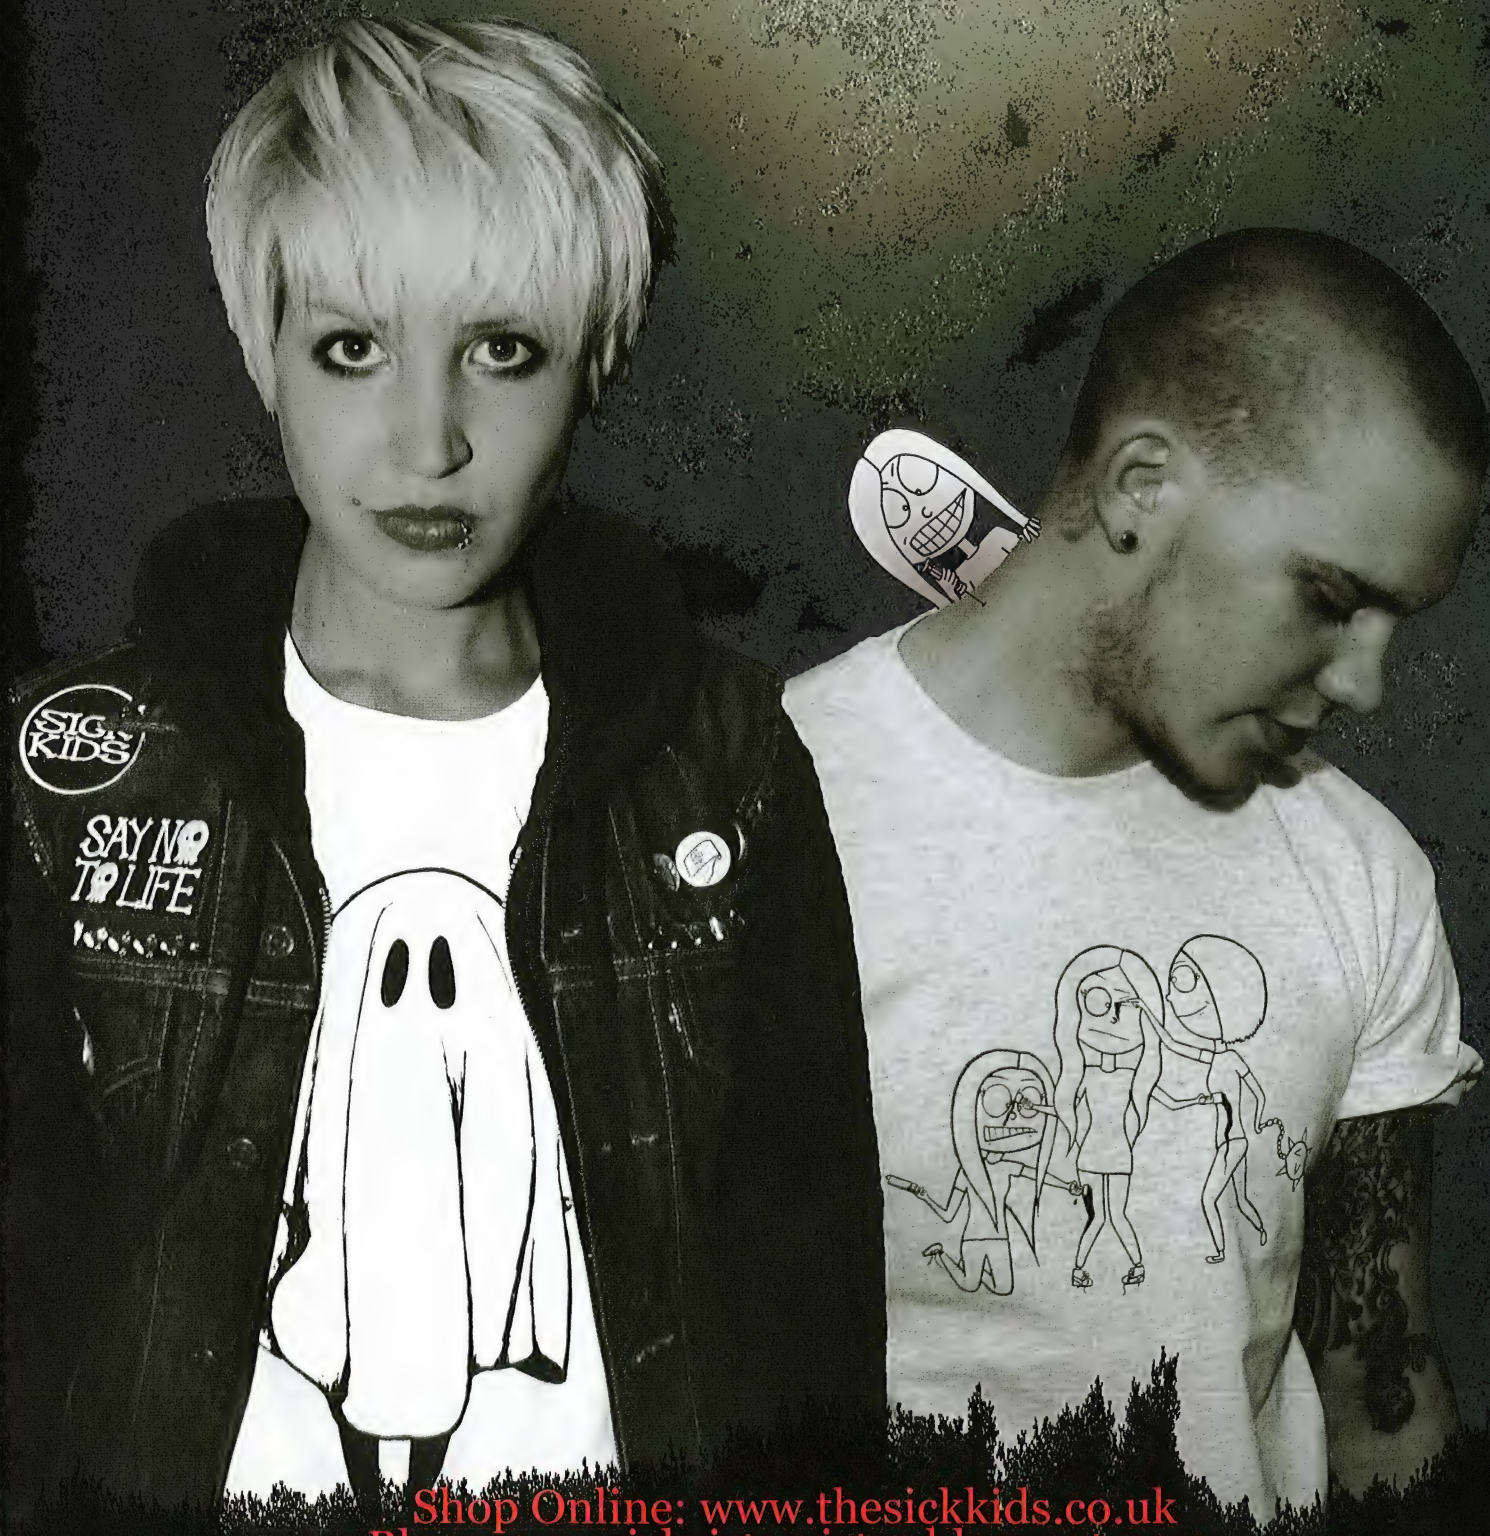

Released 28 June

METAL FESTIVAL HEADLINER SHOWDOWN!

IRON MAIDEN

AC/DC

REAR END

With some 30-odd albums behind them, Maiden have been leading British metal since their self-titled debut stomped out of East London in 1980. They headline the opening night of Sonisphere on 30 July.

With some 20-odd albums behind them, AC/DC have been the name, face and testicles of Australian rock since their debut, High Voltage, was labeled an "all-time low" for rock by Rolling Stone in the mid-'70s. They headline the opening night of Download on 11 June.

THE FRONT MAN

BRUCE DICKINSON

Qualified pilot, fencing fan and famed for his "Scream for me!" live warbling, Bruce is in his second spell at the front of Maiden, having taken a break in the '90s to release four of his six solo albums and team up with, er, Mr Bean for the track (I Wanna Be) Elected.

BRIAN JOHNSON

Racing car nutter, musical theatre writer and famed for his ball-shrinking ability to screech, Brian has fronted AC/DC since original vocalist Bon Scott came a cropper in 1980, breaking only to do voiceovers in Call Of Duty and guest in rubbish football film Goal!.

THE MASCOT

EDDIE THE 'EDD

The lumbering mate of Maiden is an ever-present both onstage and on the band's record sleeves, where he's been an Egyptian pharaoh, a chained-up mentalist, death, a wicker man and a Terminator-like future thing.

ANGUS YOUNG

DC's chief guitar-diddler is also the band's pint-sized cheerleader, his school uniform look as famous as his finger-fucking solos. It might have been oh-so-very different had he settled on one of his other original costume ideas, though. No one's become a rock star dressed as a gorilla.

BESTEST KICKS

BIGGEST TUNE

FEAR OF THE DARK

Offa: Fear Of The Dark (1992)
What's it all about? Being all scared and dropping one in your kecks cos it's dark. Yeah?
Bestest, most amazingest line: "When the light begins to change, I sometimes feel a little strange."
Cover version: Fightstar did this for a Kerrang! CD. It was pleasantly good, too.

AC/DC

You Shook Me All Night Long

Have A Drink On Me

YOU SHOOK ME ALL NIGHT LONG

Offa: Back In Black (1980)
What's it all about? Getting sexy with a pretty lady, like.
Bestest, most amazingest line: "She was a fast machine, she kept her motor clean."
Cover version: Celine Dion's rendition of this was declared the Worst Cover Of All Time by Total Guitar magazine.

WINNER
DRAW

Yep, we're completely bottling it: there's simply nothing between the might of Maiden and the awesomeness of AC/DC. Do you know who the real winner is, hmm? Festival season. And you. You're great.

BENTLEY CONTINENTAL FLYING STAR

£500K

BENTLEYS ARE THE CHOICE of ride for toffs, footballers and Lottery chancers alike – but what if you need to cart a shit-load of crap around too? Well, wonder no more, because the chaps at Touring Superleggera can knock you up a classy Bentley estate... for the bargain price of half-a-million squids.

The conversion can be based on either the GTC or the Speed, and the Flying Star features an extended roofline and bespoke rear end. That means acres of space for grandfather clocks or massive plasma TVs, or even to diddle your international team-mate's wife in, depending on your preferences. Savagely fast, obscenely expensive and guaranteed to make everyone hate you.

IF DARTH VADER lived in Essex and turned a bit fruity, this bad-boy would be parked on his drive. It's the limited-edition Focus RS500, and we think it rocks. But it's not just a funky paintjob – the engine has been poked with a big stick and it now chucks out a healthy 345bhp, which ain't too shabby for a front-driver.

You won't want to get too excited, cos all 101 of these are already sold, but fear not, kids: you can get all of the go-fast goodies fitted to any Focus RS through official tuner Mountune. Phew!

THREE OTHER MENTALIST ESTATES

MERCEDES C63 AMG - £51,500

The Germans don't piss around. The AMG Merc is big enough to carry lots of shit, fast enough to outrun anything this side of an Enzo, and so well made if you crash it, you'll barely notice.

AUDI RS6 - £77,600

Another beast from the Land Of Sausage, but this one will make your Spaniel do a sick. Twin-turbo V10 power and enough room to get a donkey in the back - ideal for a spot of extreme dogging...

INSIGNIA VXR - £31,000

A Vauxhall? Granted, it sounds a bit cack, but the VXR gets a dirty great 2.8ltr turbocharged V6 lump that kicks out 321bhp and has lots of potential for tuning.

AUDI RS5 £57,500

SOME WOOLLY-HAIRED clown off a popular TV programme said Audis are the new BMWs, which means if you drive an Audi, you must be a cock. Well, this may be so, but roger us with a big stick if they don't make ace rides. In fact, this is so good, we'll forgive the fact that other drivers will flick bogeys at you in traffic jams.

DIY LAMBO

A Chinese lorry driver has built his own Lamborghini replica for just two grand. Chen Jimmiao spent a year building it using pics downloaded from t'internet. Unfortunately, it looks a bag of wank and with a top speed of 50mph, and your nan's Micra will leave it for dead at the lights (if your nan lives in Beijing).

NO. 1: AUDI SPORT QUATTRO 1984

Chances are that you were just a rumble in your old man's nut-sack when Audi launched their legendary Sport Quattro. Based on the first production four-wheel-drive car, the Sport was shorter, had more power and destroyed everything in Group B rallying. The car that paved the way for the 4WD monsters we know and love today.

FANTASY

PORNSTAR SUPERHEROES

STARRING: KRISTINA ROSE,
ASA AKIRA

COMBINING THE TWO things everyone loves most in the summer – big-budget superhero blockbusters and vigorous sweaty self-abuse – is such an amazing idea you'd think it had been done millions of times before. It might well have been, but never as awesomely as this, which combines mind-bending filth, women so fit they make our souls hurt, and some fucking awful villainous acting.

Honestly, the quality of the evil dudes' performance is like watching a panto in Rhyl. If the bloke who plays Ian Beale in EastEnders suddenly showed up, you'd be all, "Thank fuck there's some decent actors." Then if he got his cock out and started ploughing into someone, you'd be sick, cos he's Ian Beale, and nobody needs to see his grubby balls.

IN A NUTSHELL

IF THIS FILM REALLY WAS A SUPERHERO, IT WOULD BE CALLED AMAZING WOMAN AND BE INCREDIBLE.

HARDCORE PRIVATE WORLD CUP: FOOTBALLERS' WIVES

The character names in this WAGs spoof are all jokey versions of real WAGs, like Victoria Fuckham. Leslie Trash, though, is presumably a play on Leslie Ash, whose husband Lee Chapman retired in fucking 1996.

HARDCORE EVIL ELEGANCE

We got a German workie to review this, and the notes he made during it were unpublishable. What's wrong with German people? The mag would have been pulled off shelves quicker than you could say "Danny Dyer's advice column".

BLEAK LARA'S UK SWINGERS

If Smellovision existed, and you watched this on a Smell-ready TV, you'd be overwhelmed by the honk of sperm and chips and fags. It's as unglamorous as pom gets, but hey, sometimes that's just what you're after.

RENNA RYANN NEW ENTRY

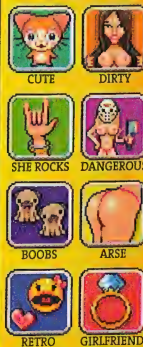

The delicious Renna has four 'N's in her ten-letter name. That's loads! That makes her name 40 per cent letter 'N's! Presposterous! Maybe it's because that's the sort of thing we say to beautiful women that we don't tend to do very well with them.

WORK YOUR TITS OFF: FRONT INTERNS

DESIGN MAVERICK

We're searching for a talented Design Intern to work across both the magazine and website. The successful applicant will have an excellent working knowledge of InDesign, Photoshop and Illustrator, and demonstrate a good understanding of web development.

WEB MONKEY

Are you an internet genius? FRONT is looking for Web Developers for internships. You'll be experienced in developing websites using PHP, MySQL, XHTML and CSS, and have an acceptable level of personal hygiene.

PICTURE HAWK

Do you like pictures? Of girls? FRONT is looking for a Picture Intern to work on the website but with plenty of opportunity to help on the mag. You'll need knowledge of Photoshop, be able to pay close attention to detail and, most importantly, know your arse from your elbow (candidates without arses or elbows will also be considered).

Applicants for all positions should be able to commit to a minimum of three months, and be within commuting distance of FRONT's offices in sunny Soho, Central London. MORE DETAILS AT FRONTARMY.CO.UK

HARDCORE BLUE PILL!

REAL BLUE V GENUINE RAMAGRA PILL YOURS FREE! WORTH £15.00 A PILL!

Just send £2 to cover the p&p. No strings - we know you will come back for more genuine Ramagra!

Yes it seems too good to be true; but we are genuinely giving away Real Ramagra Blue 'V' pills to every reader. All we ask is that you send just £2.00 to cover the postage and packing. No strings - we're running this promotion as we want as many people as possible to try Real Ramagra Blue 'V' pills for themselves. Due to savings for bulk purchase, we are able to offer 30 and 90 sizes at incredibly discounted prices.

WHAT IS RAMAGRA?

Ramagra, The natural Viagra® alternative that increases your Sex Drive. Probably the most talked about pharmaceutical these days, Viagra®, pertains to enhancing sexual performance, especially in men. For many men, this prescription drug has changed their lives (and that of their partners) for the better. For many others the side effects outweigh the benefits. Natural alternatives may be a better choice, and may be even more effective.

WHAT DOES RAMAGRA DO?

Enhances Sexual Desire, Heightens Arousal, Prolongs Orgasm, Increases Semen Production. Is there a natural, non-prescription alternative to Viagra®? YES. There are several herbs, vitamins, and minerals that can provide many of the same benefits as Viagra® as well as some other benefits that Viagra® does not provide...AND without the unwanted side effects created by that drug.

For thousands of years, people have looked to increase their sexual health through herbs, and have also used herbs as aphrodisiacs. Herbs can be very effective in both of these areas and can be gentle, natural enhancers that work harmoniously with the body.

RAMAGRA, THE BEST SELLER!

Ramagra is the fastest selling natural Libido Pill of all time. Our Male Potency formula Ramagra has been specifically designed to improve and enhance male sexual performance and pleasure. Sexual vitality is an important part of life at any age. Remember, your sexual pleasure need not diminish with age. Ramagra nutritional libido booster can help recharge your sex life, restore that twinkle in your eyes, and put a skip in your step!

WHY IS RAMAGRA No.1?

Ramagra is a synergistic combination of natural exotic herbs from all over the world to nutritionally support the adult male reproductive system while increasing circulation and energy to help add zest and pleasure. It has been specifically formulated as a safe, effective alternative for men who prefer an all-natural method for helping boost sexual performance and pleasure while increasing desire.

Ramagra also contains a proprietary herbal blend that was specifically developed to provide nutritional support as a natural alternative to Viagra® and other drugs designed to help with impotence, or as it's becoming better known, erectile dysfunction. The herbs, vitamins, and minerals provide nutritional support for optimal sexual performance and work to enhance sexual function.

WHAT CAN RAMAGRA DO FOR ME?

It can make your sex life much better by improving male function, stamina, stimulation, desire, and pleasure. Even if you consider your sex life good, Ramagra can make it better because it's designed to enhance your sexual experience.

HOW LONG CAN I USE RAMAGRA?

Ramagra's all-natural ingredients are designed to be used daily, month after month. It is formulated to nutritionally support, strengthen, and improve the male system. Your sexual health and experiences will get better and better with continuous use of Ramagra.

CLIMAGRA FORMULATED SPECIALLY FOR LADIES

Climagra pills are the natural alternative for the ladies. They open up the capillaries allowing increased blood-flow and sensation to the clitoral region, enabling stronger and fuller orgasms.

WARNING!

Some customers have found our 100mg strength pills are too effective. If you experience this, please just take half a pill.

Nature's Cures

Disclaimer:
Ramagra is a totally natural product. We do not supply Viagra® or generic sildenafil citrate. Viagra® is the trade mark of Pfizer Inc. All rights reserved and trade marks acknowledged.

NO FAKE BOOBS

All the girls in FRONT are 100 per cent natural in the boobs department. They may have fake eyes, legs or arms, but their boobs are most definitely not made in a factory in China. No way José.

FRONT IS NO LADS' MAG

Contrary to what fools claim, FRONT is not a lads' mag. FRONT is a blokes' mag for proper gents. This is totally, totally different. It might sound the same, but it's fucking not. Tell anyone that disagrees with you on this to go do one.

FLYING THE NIPPLE FLAG

FHM have rid their pages of nipples, but FRONT will not follow suit. We think nipples are pretty good, and you lot seem to be quite big fans of them too. If the nipple police come knocking, rest assured we'll hide behind the sofa and not answer the door.

THE INDEPENDENT MAG

FRONT is completely independent. This means we're not told what to do by some bloke in a big office who goes for a dump on his coffee table and makes people sit under the glass and watch. We answer to no one other than you fine, slightly mad readers.

SORTS THE RAGING ARSEHOLES
FROM THE MINOR WANKERS

TITCHMARSH

Alan Titchmarsh is a flower-fiddling, granny-bothering, cunt-featured fuckwit! His kangaroo court condemning video games was so biased and one-sided I thought I'd been pushed the fuck back into 1930s Nazi Germany. His show is only watched by post-menstrual old biddies who fawn over the manure-fragranced cunt with no clue about modern life. Be gone to the Middle Ages and fondle your arse with parsnips, you bumber!

Lois Morgan, via text

Too right, Lois – Titchmarsh is one green-fingered, meddling little cunt. We don't go around slagging off garden centres – even though they're often scruffy as shit and sell overpriced Mars bars – so what they fuck's he playing at having a go at computer games? Onto The Cuntdown, you ruddy faced bollock garden cunt.

WINTON

Dale cuntung Winton. Cunt my gold my arse. Get back to Supermarket Sweep, you orange-faced, trolley-shagging piece of cunt. Or, do us all a favour and get off our TV screens altogether you massive, massive cuntung cunt.

Rich, York

Alas, Rich, Winton's no cunt. Sure, those Cash My Gold ads are irritating as shit, but perma-tanned Dale is nothing more than the nation's harmless fruity uncle. He's a prat, and you wouldn't want to sit on his knee, like, but he's hardly a cunt.

JESSEN

We would like to nominate smarmy know-it-all cunt Dr Christian Jessen off Embarrassing Bodies – a cunt who spends the majority of his cuntung time prancing around prodding and poking his nose into crusty fannies. The nerve of this cunt. The worst of it is that flicking channels puts us at risk of catching him groping some spotty lad's tits on the cuntung telly-box right when we're tucking into fucking dinner. What a fucking cunt. Chris and Lanky, via e-mail
Hells yes, dudes – nobody likes to have their Turkey Drummers interrupted with a close-up of some dude's drippy anus. For that, and for his fucking hairdo and piss-strange taste in shirts, Jessen is in at one!

FOGLE

Ben fucking Fogle. What a high-grade cunt he is. No one else on Earth fucks me off more than that mountain-hiking, Animal Park-bothering, "I'm fucking friends with Prince William" cunt. If he were a Cluedo piece, he'd be Miss cuntung White. Cunt.

Anon, via text

Hold your horses there, anonymous friend. Fogle may be one unforgivably foppish fuck, but the guy just seems far too nice in that bumbling posh idiot way to be tarred with the sticky cunt brush. Plus, people's mums fancy him, and people's mums are great.

WHO'S MISSING?

Give us a cunt! Who riles you to the point of frantic violence? Put your anger into words and let FRONT spread your spite across the land. Let us know: TXT 07717 605 946 @frontarmy.co.uk

10

OLLY SMITH
Snout-faced, wine-quaffing, Iron Cunt cunt. NEW ENTRY

SMITH

I nominate Olly Smith, that shouty fake-ginger blond wine expert shitbag and host of Iron Chef UK.

What a god-awful wang-faced toff cunt. Every time I see him,

I fantasise about punching him repeatedly in the face and then carving his features into the shape of a vagina, so more people are aware of his true cuntyness.

Mel, via text

You know what, Mel? You're right. We get the impression that the pun-mangling Smith would rather not be such a cunt, but alas, a cunt he is. In at ten, you Iron Cunt!
